

Power Group Chief Pans Sackett For Berlin Speech

SAYS ENVOY IS NOT FAMILIAR WITH SUBJECT

Energy Normally Sold For Not More Than 4 Times Cost At Plant

San Francisco—(P)—The speech of Ambassador Frederick Sackett at the world power conference in Berlin in which he attacked asserted excessive rates charged by light and power utilities in America brought sharp rejoinders today from President Matthew S. Sloan and other leaders of the National Electric Light association in convention here.

President Sloan, head of the New York Edison company, challenged the accuracy of Ambassador Sackett's statement that rates in the United States ran as high as fifteen times the cost of generating current.

"Sackett is mistaken," said Sloan. "On an average the sales price to domestic consumers the country over is not four times the cost of energy at the power house. The ambassador discloses a lack of understanding of the fundamental economics of business generally and particularly of electric service."

An international communications demonstration directed by Clinton B. Allsop, vice president of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, will be a feature of the sessions tonight. Mr. Allsop will attempt to send a message around the world in less than eight minutes, the present record.

Owen D. Young, author of the Young reparations plan, will make the principal speech tonight. Speakers on today's program included J. F. Owens, Oklahoma Gas and Electric company; A. H. Griswold, executive vice president of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company; Martin J. Insull, president of the Middlewest Utilities company, Chicago; Edwin Gruhl, vice president and manager of the North American company, and W. J. Hagenah, Chicago, vice president of the Blytheby Engineering and Management corporation.

Miss Lucille Smart, 22, 647 Second-st., Menasha, suffered cuts and bruises about the right arm and leg when the car in which she was riding crashed into an ornamental light pole at the corner of College-ave and Memorial-dr., about 4.30 Wednesday afternoon. Miss Smart was riding with Floyd Biggreen, 647 Second-st., Menasha. The car was crossing College-ave from Richmond-st. when the steering gear locked and the machine struck the light pole, breaking it off. Miss Smart was taken to a doctor's office for first aid.

17 ARE EXAMINED AT HORTONVILLE CLINIC

Seventeen children were examined at a health clinic Tuesday at the American Legion hall at Hortonville. Eleven of the children were found to be of normal weight while three were overweight and three were underweight. In addition the examination disclosed two cases of defective teeth, seven cases of defective tonsils, nine cases of gland trouble, two cases of skin disease, and four cases of bone defects. Dr. Myra Hutchinson of the state board of health had charge of the examinations. She was assisted by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse. The local arrangements were made by the American Legion auxiliary.

PHILADELPHIA TO REAR MONUMENT TO HONOR FRANKLIN

Philadelphia—(P)—A great memorial is to be erected here in honor of Benjamin Franklin. More than $5,000,000 for the purpose has been raised by public subscription and ground was broken yesterday for the building, which will occupy nearly three acres on the parkway leased from the city for 99 years at $1 a year. The structure will house many evidences of Franklin's greatness, and exhibits of the progress of the nation in mechanical arts and sciences. It will be known as the Franklin memorial and will be modeled after the great Deutsches museum at Munich. The plans call for its completion in the spring of 1932.

Money for the memorial, which will have a floor area of about 400,000 square feet, was raised in ten days by a committee headed by Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia publisher, who turned the first shovel of earth at the ground breaking exercises. It was Mr. Curtis' 50th birthday and many speakers paid tribute to him because of his "spirited leadership and indomitable energy."

Mr. Curtis declared the memorial should have been erected years ago. "After 140 years," he said, "Philadelphia is starting to give Benjamin Franklin that memorial to which his great career, his many achievements and his services to this city entitle him."

To-night: Get Rid of BURNING FEET

The New Right Way THE ENGLISH WAY

To take out the agony—banish all burning, aches and soreness—try the new 1930 way and in 15 to 20 minutes your foot troubles are over. Just put two tablespoonfuls of Radox in a gallon of hot water and soak your feet for 20 minutes—you never had such a joyous, invigorating foot bath in all your life—you can just feel all the acid and poisons coming out of the stuffed up pores of your poor feet.

Do this tonight and tomorrow your feet will be so strong and sturdy and vigorous that you can walk all day long without discomfort. It's the oxygen in Radox that gets into the thousands of pores of your feet and chases out the poisons that have accumulated there for years—it's these acids and poisons that make your feet ache and burn and nothing in the world will get them out but Radox. You can get a package of Radox at Schlitz Bros. Drug Co. or any good drugstore—it is inexpensive and it doesn't put new life and vigor into and bring blessed comfort to your distressed feet—money back, adv.

ALCOCK TURNS GUNS ON ALL CITY CROOKS

Dishonest Officers, Gangsters Are Objectives In Chicago

Chicago—(P)—Acting Police Commissioner John H. Alcock today named Lieut. John W. Norton to be chief of detectives succeeding John Stego and appointed Captain John Ryan to be assistant chief of detectives, succeeding Lieut. John Egan. Norton has had charge of a supervisory squad at the detective bureau while Ryan has been serving as a relief captain.

Chicago—(P)—John H. Alcock, the "iron man" who has been made acting commissioner of police, today swung a two edged sword that aimed at gangsters without the law, and dishonest officers within.

The new commissioner had this injunction from Mayor Thompson: "Your first job is to capture every gangster in Chicago. Your second is to get the evidence that will send every one of them either to the penitentiary or to the electric chair. You have a free hand. You will not be interfered with."

Alcock himself announced his intention of purging the police department of crooked officers. The Herald and Examiner today quoted him as saying to certain friends that one out of every five men in the police department is or has been on the payroll of racketeers. The ratio, he was quoted as saying, prevailed in every rank, from patrolman to captain.

The murder of Alfred (Jack) Lingle, Tribune reporter, will have a prominent part in the investigation of gangster-politico alliances, Alcock

HOLLAND TO HELP LEASE PROBE BODY

Blaine Summons Montanan To Aid Investigating 6,000 Leases

Washington—(P)—A 30-year old veteran of the Teapot Dome and lobby investigations has been called to the assistance of another senate committee.

He is John Holland, Montana, whose work as investigator for the senate committee so impressed Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, that he has been employed to help uncover any fraud that may exist in approximately 6,000 postoffice leases.

Blaine, a member of the lobby committee, is chairman of the postoffice investigating committee.

Holland is now busily engaged in winding up the affairs of the lobby committee which expired after the examination of Bishop James Cannon, Jr. as soon as this work is completed he will tackle his new assignment.

The youthful investigator served in the Teapot dome investigation. When Senator Walsh of Montana, was appointed on the lobby committee, he requested Holland, who had joined the prohibition bureau in New York, to come to Washington as its investigator.

Blaine said today information concerning the leasing of about 600

RETIRED CONTRACTOR KILLS WIFE AND SELF

Alhambra, Calif.—(P)—Arthur W. Peck, 68, retired building contractor, shot and killed his wife, Edna, 64, and ended his own life here yesterday.

In an envelope Peck left $106 for a daughter, Mrs. Zayda Blake, Sioux City, Iowa, with the request that the daughter "put away" the couple "as cheaply as possible." The note said Mrs. Peck had suffered a stroke of paralysis and Peck "could not see her suffer."

postoffice sites in the larger cities had been obtained by the committee and that the next step would be learning the financial details of the leases. Hearings will be started within a few weeks. The investigation was ordered by the senate several weeks ago after charges had been made that the leasing of a postoffice in St. Paul, Minn., had been tainted with fraud.

Two Governors Will Talk To Spanish War Veterans

EXPECT GREEN AND KOHLER TO APPEAR HERE

Addresses Will Be Given At Pierce Park On Friday Of Next Week

Two governors will be speakers at one of the sessions of the thirty-first annual encampment of the Wisconsin United Spanish American War Veterans which will be held in Appleton Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Governor Fred W. Green of Michigan, national commander of the Spanish War veterans, has already consented to come to Appleton next Friday, while Governor Walter J. Kohler has indicated to the local committee in charge of arrangements that he will make an effort to be here that day, according to W. H. Zuehlke, general chairman.

Governor Kohler has an appointment next Friday at Baldwin, Wis., where he expects to fly by airplane. He has promised the local committee, Mr. Zuehlke said, to try to arrange his program so that he can reach Appleton despite the fact that there are two other state conventions in progress at the same time.

About 1,500 men and women are expected to attend the session here. The Spanish War Veterans' state auxiliary also is to be in session here at the same time. The veterans will hold business sessions at the Eagle's hall while the women meet at the Knights of Pythias hall.

PROGRAM AT PARK

The program at which the two governors are scheduled to talk is to be staged at the pavilion in Pierce park at 4:30 Friday afternoon.

Before the program there is to be a parade through the business district of the city. Details of the parade have not yet been announced by the committee. The parade will end at Pierce park where the program is to be staged.

In addition to the addresses by the two governors there will be several dance and musical numbers presented and the band will play a short concert. After the program there is to be a mess supper served to members of the organization. A mess camp is to be set up in the park.

DRY LAW NOT LONE ISSUE IN JERSEY

are grooming him for 1936, which would be the end of the long term in the senate if he is elected this autumn.

Between now and the fall election Mr. Morrow will probably announce his support of President Hoover and the latter will, in turn, try to help elect Mr. Morrow. Every president can usually renominate himself and the supporters of Mr. Morrow who know politics are not thinking of a split in the Republican party in 1932, which would be inevitable if they attempted to wrest the nomination from Mr. Hoover.

WORK WITH WEST

In the next six years Mr. Morrow may have an opportunity, assuming his election next fall, to shake off his earlier financial handicap and reveal himself as sympathetic with the viewpoint of many of the western Republicans. Otherwise he will be known as the candidate of Wall-st and the westerners will fight him.

There is no doubt that Mr. Morrow has already made many friends among the western Republicans. Senator Borah of Idaho was one of the first champions in the cause of Mr. Morrow when he was first named an ambassador to Mexico. Calvin Coolidge may be expected in due time to give Mr. Morrow a good deal of help.

All this is an indication that Tuesday's victory in the primary, marking as it does Mr. Morrow's climbing of the first political hurdle of his career, may be an important stage in the political evolution of the man who foresees banking and finance to enter the field of diplomacy and public service.

Unless there is a widespread protest against the Hoover administration in the autumn election, Mr. Morrow's chances of election are considered good. The Democrats have hitherto benefited by the fact that their candidate was wet, while the Republicans took the dry side and only in a presidential year, therefore, have the Republicans been able, by reason of the strength of the top of the ticket, to elect their candidate. No president is running this fall, hence the Republicans have reason to be nervous, particularly since a reaction on account of the business depression is expected. Dwight Morrow, however, may be one of the exceptions to the rule this autumn because of his outstanding record of achievements.

BUILDING PERMITS

Three building permits were issued by John N. Welland, building inspector. They were granted to Andrew Gieser, 1038 W. Fourth-st., addition to residence, cost $25; A. H. Kunkin, 1137 W. Packard-st., one car garage, cost $150; G. E. Woelher, 1010 W. 10th-st., one car garage, cost $150.

On Program

INVITE MERCHANTS TO TAKE PART IN VETERANS' PARADE

Committee Offers Prizes For Best Floats Appearing In Procession

Appleton merchants and manufacturers are invited by the arrangements committee of the local Spanish American War veterans post, which is making plans for the state convention of Spanish war veterans here Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, to take part in the street parade to be staged at Friday afternoon.

In order to arouse more interest in the parade the committee, at a meeting at the armory last night, decided to offer three cash prizes for the best floats appearing in the parade, according to W. H. Zuehlke, general chairman. The cash prizes will consist of $25 for the best float, $15 for the second best float and $5 for the third best float. The judges are to be announced later.

The committee is making a special effort to secure as many floats as possible for the parade. All those desiring to enter a float in the parade should register with Mr. Zuehlke.

The committee also decided to issue special invitations to all fraternal organizations in the city to take part in the parade. In addition there will be about 1,500 veterans in the city from all over the state and many of these will be delegates from the various war veteran camps. They also will march.

After the parade reaches Pierce park there is to be a program at which Gov. or Fred W. Green of Michigan and Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin will be the featured speakers. Governor Green is national commander of the Spanish War Veterans.

SWIMMING POOL GETS EMERGENCY EQUIPMENT

A life buoy, hook and several lengths of rope were placed at the municipal swimming pool Thursday to be used in case of emergency. Opening of the pool has brought several hundred children daily for swimming instruction and as there is need for emergency equipment it was installed Thursday. The buoy is a regular cork ring buoy which can be thrown a person in trouble. The rope can be used for the same purpose while the hook will enable attendants to place the steel ring under a swimmer's arms and practically lift him from the water.

MUST ADVERTISE TO SELL PRODUCTS, AGENCY MAN SAYS

Representative Of Milwaukee Advertising Company Kiwanis Speaker

Ralph Waldo Emerson, great New England preacher and philosopher, once made a statement that if a man can make a better mouse trap than his neighbor the world will beat a path to his door.

And to this the present generation has added—if he advertises, R. C. Breth, Green Bay representative of the Freeze, Vogel and Crawford advertising agency of Milwaukee, told the Kiwanis club Wednesday noon at the weekly luncheon at Conway hotel.

National advertising was the general subject of his talk but he also branched into a discussion of local advertising in newspapers. He commended the advertising of the home merchants and the chain store pointing out that in every instance the latter's advertising is more consistent and therefore his sales usually are greater.

Advertising is the biggest business in the world today, according to Mr. Breth, who noted that in 1929, General Motors, whose advertising appropriation is the largest in the world, spent more than $5,000,000 putting its products before the public. Increase of nearly $2,000,000 over the previous year.

He also listed advertising appropriations of other large manufacturing companies, Proctor and Gamble, General Foods, Lambert Pharmaceutical Laboratories, General Electric, and Palmolive whose appropriations rank in the order named.

SPENDING MORE MONEY. Advertisements there was a reduction in the amount spent in national advertising during the first three months of 1936. Mr. Breth pointed out that companies which kept their advertising appropriations at a continuous figure or which spent more were the ones reporting business the same as usual. He said advertising expenditures are increasing, however, the total amount spent in January, something over 13 millions of dollars, having been increased to 13 million in March.

It often have been asked whether advertising can be applied to towns and cities. Mr. Breth said, "And to that I answer yes. Atlanta, Ga., is the best example of a city which has advertised successfully. Starting in 1901 with an advertising program, three new branch offices were brought to the southern city. In 1929 there were 101 branch offices established, making a total of 104 in the 25 year period. Atlanta today is one of the largest branch office cities in the south."

Magazines, newspaper, radio, bill boards and direct mail, are the best known methods of advertising, according to Mr. Breth. Taking magazines first he revealed that publications with the largest circulations are the American Weekly, the Saturday Evening Post, Liberty, and Colliers. Advertising income in these publications has increased 33 per cent since the first of the year despite alleged hard times, he said.

DISCUSSES PAGE COST. Prices per page for advertising in these magazines, their circulation and things the advertising agencies know about them were revealed to the Kiwanis club. There also were shown the fact that 13.3 per cent of its ads are from national automobile dealers, 10 per cent from manufacturers of cigars, 13 per cent from food wholesalers, and 17 per cent from manufacturers of drugs.

Chain stores and their advertising, revealed by Mr. Breth through a survey of 40 newspapers in 20 cities to be about four advertisements of considerable size each week, also was touched upon. In completing his comment he told retailers and merchants to "carry on consistent advertising in your local newspaper if you wish to reach your customers, and keep advertisements continually before them if you wish to have them remember you."

The radio is a new method of advertising, according to Mr. Breth, and its value is not yet known. No one knows how many families have radio sets and until census figures are complete it will never be known. Even then the number of persons listening to a program will be a question.

RADIO HAS VALUE. However, there are some instances which show great value of the radio. For securing quick action and inquiries—especially from rural communities—the radio and something free is the best known method of advertising. To prove this assertion Mr. Breth gave several examples of inquiries received after a single radio program over a well known "farmer" radio station.

Bill boards, despite the comments on their unsightliness, are a good means of advertising, according to Mr. Breth, who passed over the subject by adding that in behalf of the advertisers it must be said they are making their boards as attractive as possible, a great improvement over old methods.

Direct mail advertising should be part of every advertiser's program, Mr. Breth believes. He warned of the danger of overdoing this type of advertising, a situation brought about by the fact there is so much direct mail literature being received daily. He also spent several minutes discussing the bad effects of poor mail lists with wrong names, addresses, and duplication.

BANKERS WARNED TO RESTRICT FUNDS TO SECURITIES MARKET

Economist Warns Against "Disquieting Rapidity" Of Movement

St. Paul.—(AP)—Benjamin M. Anderson, economist of the Chase National bank of New York, warned the Minnesota Bankers association today against the "disquieting rapidity" with which bank funds employed in investment in securities and collateral loans on securities has grown in recent weeks.

Reports from 600 odd reporting banks of the federal reserve system in the great cities show the ratio of their bond holdings plus stock and bond collateral loans to their total loans and investments increased from 50 to 60 per cent on Feb. 12, 1936, to 62.7 per cent on June 4.

"It cannot be good policy to make bank money so abundant and so easy that it must overflow at this rapid rate into the securities market," he said he warned that "when business revives, when hundreds of millions of dollars must flow out of bank reserves into hand to hand circulation, and when coming trade, we shall have to put it back again—a process which will not help along the business revival."

"It is far better," he said, "that in times of slack the federal reserve authorities should take up the excess reserves in the money market, allowing the volume of general bank credit to contract and conserving the reserve money of the country so that it may be used in a time of revival to permit bank credit to expand comfortably to meet the needs of trade."

TRACES DEVELOPMENT

Anderson's subject was "The Abuse of Bank Credit as a Source of Capital." He reviewed the development of capital and said that while many writers would deny that bank credit is an addition to capital at all, none the less, for the business man seeking capital, credit is enough.

"When bank investments are bought at proper prices and are of proper quality and marketability, when collateral loans against securities are limited to well-margined loans against readily marketable securities, and when the growth in bank investments and in stock and bond collateral loans is moderate and kept reasonably in line with the growth of commercial loans, there is no concern about the development. It has happened more than once in the past that the stock market has been able to pay back what it owes to the banks more readily than have the merchants."

"Recognizing all this fully, I would still maintain that the growth during the past eight years in bank investment and in bank loans against stock and bond collateral has been altogether excessive."

In support of this statement, Dr. Anderson said that between 1921 and 1928, bond holdings plus stock and collateral loans of the national bank increased from 42 per cent to 53 per cent of their total loans and investments, while the 600 odd reporting member banks the ratio rose from 46 per cent to a fraction over 60 per cent.

MEATING HONORED FOR COMMENCEMENT TRIP TO CAPITAL

1,000 People Attend Dinner For County School Head At Greenville Hall

Tribute was paid A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, for his efforts in planning and executing the rural school commencement tour to Washington, D. C., last week at a dinner at the Greenville Grange hall this noon. Mr. Meating was honored by more than 1,000 people, among whom were several hundred who made the trip to Washington.

As a token of appreciation for his work the 1,200 people who made the trip to Washington presented Mr. Meating with a gold watch, chain and knife. On the watch was engraved the legend:

"In Appreciation to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, for his efforts in planning and executing the rural school commencement tour to Washington, D. C., last week at a dinner at the Greenville Grange hall this noon."

A special ad hoc committee passed among the 1,200 people on the two special trains on their return from Washington and collected over $100 for purchase of the gift for the county superintendent. Practically everyone of the persons on the trip contributed to the fund. Some of the school children gave as little as a penny, but they all desired to do as much as they could to show their esteem for the man who made the trip possible.

Members of this committee were: Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, Miss Harriet Thompson, Miss Alice Murray, Miss Marie Klein, Miss Loretta Rice, Miss Dorothy Stern, Mrs. Catherine Landert, Mrs. Bertha Barry, Mrs. Perry Cornelius, Gus Stoll, W. P. Iagman and H. K. Derus.

DERUS PRESENTS WATCH

The presentation to Mr. Meating was made by Mr. Derus on behalf of the crowd which made the trip to Washington. He pointed out that as an educator Mr. Meating was alive to the true concepts of education and that as compared to mere book learning the trip to Washington has and will prove to be of infinite more value to the 350 graduates which made the trip.

"The perfect execution of the trip proclaimed Mr. Meating's ability as a leader and an executive," the speaker said. "Because of his efforts which resulted in untold fine publicity for the county and the city of Appleton Mr. Meating deserves well or even, thinking citizen of the county."

"If obtaining a knowledge of our political institutions is the paramount duty of a citizen of the republic, Mr. Meating has made a substantial contribution to the welfare of this county. The memories which will survive the visit of these students to Mount Vernon, Arlington cemetery, the White House, the capitol and others of the nation's executive buildings will preserve this pilgrimage. To those who were privileged to be in the group it meant a rebirth and regeneration of these instincts which make for ideal citizenship and for those boys and girls who made the trip it meant an everlasting foundation on which to lay their future citizenship."

The presentation of the gift was a part of the program held in connection with the annual County Achievement day.

Achievement day marks the close of a year's work among the rural home economics clubs of the county. Groups of women, representing the county clubs which participated in the home economics program during the last year, presented various entertainment numbers.

Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent, presided at the sessions at Greenville. She was in charge of the program of home economics work in the county during the last year.

100 FOX AND MINK BREEDERS PRESENT AT SUMMER SCHOOL

First Session Of Annual Event Opens At 10 O'clock This Morning

About one hundred Fox and Mink breeders registered for the eighth annual summer school of the Wisconsin Fox and Fur Breeder's association when the first meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock this morning in the high school building.

The main corridors of the high school are lined with booths of manufacturing and marketing concerns handling equipment used by the fur breeders, at which demonstration and exhibitions of the products are going on at all times. Banners across the entrances to the building proclaim the fact that the convention is in session, but the thing that first captures one's attention as he approaches the building is a milk house, erected on the south lawn, from the door of which peer the beady little eyes of the occupant. As he gradually becomes more acquainted with his surroundings he was enticed out for a crowd of youngsters and grown-ups to watch.

Mayor John Goodland, welcomed the members of the organization to the city. He briefly outlined the points of interest in Appleton and especially urged the visitors to go through a paper mill and Lawrence college during their stay. C. A. Eberlein, Shawano, secretary of the association, responded.

The secretary outlined the plans for the program. The fox breeders are to meet in the main assembly room of the high school, while the mink breeders will gather in the gymnasium for their addresses and discussions. Mr. Eberlein, who attended a national convention of fur farmers in Milwaukee yesterday, said that many of the outstanding representatives from all over the world who gathered for the Milwaukee meet will attend the school here and aid in the discussions.

Due to the fact that the charts and information on the fur auction sales had not arrived, an open discussion was started on experiences at fur auctions. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that the silver fox markets are rapidly recuperating from the January depression.

A talk by Dr. S. C. Clute, on Practical Points in Breeding, Feeding and Raising of Foxes was scheduled for the first thing on the afternoon program. This was to be followed by Dr. S. F. Wadsworth speaking on Starving Foxes by Over-Feeding. The program will conclude with an open discussion and question box.

Tomorrow the meetings will start with an address at 9 o'clock and continue throughout the day in both the Fox and Mink divisions. Tomorrow night the members will gather for the annual get-together banquet at Conway hotel at 7 o'clock. The headquarters of the organization are at Conway hotel.

Mink breeders met this morning with the others for the opening session. This afternoon they were addressed by Dr. H. R. Hopkins, secretary of the Mink division; and C. J. Meyer, Pewaukee, on selective breeding; and Dr. Charles Freer, Wausau, Minn., on all phases of Mink farming.

SELL TO ATTEND CHEESE MEETING

State Conference At Madison To Discuss Problems Of Industry

Gus Sell, county agricultural agent, will go to Madison Friday to attend a state-wide conference, called by the state department of markets and agriculture, for the purpose of considering the present situation of the cheese industry in the state. The conference will be held at the senate chamber in the state capitol.

Mr. Sell, while there, also will attend the reunion of the classes of 1915, 1916, 1917 and 1918, which will be held at the University of Wisconsin. He is a member of the class of 1916.

R. A. Peterson, chief of the division of the cooperative marketing department, who is calling the meeting, points out that Wisconsin produces 70 per cent of the American cheese of the country and between 80 and 90 per cent of the foreign types of cheese.

The welfare of the state and the prosperity of the other branches of dairying depends to a large extent upon the conditions in the cheese industry. With the prices of cheese at a low mark and the uncertainty as to the future and in view of the importance of the cheese industry to the state in general, the Division of Cooperative Marketing feels that some definite plan should be devised in cooperation with all the interests of the state to insure stability to the dairy industry.

Zinnias Are Gorgeous For Hot Summer Months

For the hot summer months there is no more gorgeous gardening material than the zinnias, rivaling the dahlias in their giant forms and the pompon chrysanthemums in the tiny Lilliput strain. The newest strain comes from California breeders and is known as the dahlia flowered type, a quilling of the petals relieving the formality of the older flat petaled type.

Of greatest size are the California Giants, even larger than the older Colossal type. All of them are first class and no one can make a mistake in picking any one of the three.

The zinnias embrace tones of orange, yellow, and cream not found in other garden annuals.

One of the most popular types is the pumila type which grows 15 inches high with medium sized blooms lavishly produced. The giants make a growth of from three to four feet. The Lilliputs do not grow over a foot tall.

The pumila type is an ideal bedding form because of its great freedom of bloom. Salmon rose or watermelon pink, as it is variously known, is one of the most popular colors in this type and one planted widely. It has rose shades of unusual beauty and purity that are not matched up by any other of the rose colored annuals in the garden.

Well fertilized soil, a sunny situation and plenty of water are the requirements of the zinnia. It revels in hot weather and then is the time to see that while its head is hot its feet are cooled with plenty of moisture.

The picotee type is one of the later developments in this plant, each petal being edged with a deeper color than the ground color.

Another new type is the Achievement or Victory strain of quilled zinnias, the quilling giving the flower something of the appearance of a cactus dahlia. Plant zinnia seed now. It can be planted in the open and will be ready to give its display beginning in July.

BALLOONS AS SCARECROWS

Gardeners on the outskirts of London are using balloons in place of scarecrows. The balloons are inflated and attached to sticks in the ground at certain vantage points. A thieving bird, thinking the balloons are delicious "poultry," pecks at one. The balloon-like explosion so frightens the feathered thief that it never returns.

STATE CROPS IN GOOD CONDITION

Estimate Winter Wheat Production At About 800,000 Bushels

Madison—(AP)—Despite dry weather early in the season and severe frost last month, most Wisconsin crops are in good condition, the United States and Wisconsin Departments of Agriculture announced today.

Crop reporters indicated that the condition of winter wheat was 80 per cent normal. The production is estimated at 800,000 bushels as compared with 938,000 harvested last year. The estimated production of rye is 2,305,000 bushels as compared with 2,969,000 bushels harvested last year.

The condition of the crop was 83 per cent of normal as compared with 91 per cent a year ago.

May frosts caused widespread injury to canning peas, strawberries, cherries, apples, blueberries, and some of the grains. Favorable weather and rains recently have tended to offset the damage, the department reported.

Spring sown grains are in fairly good condition, oats being reported 88 per cent of normal and barley 80 per cent, better than a year ago. The condition of spring wheat is also fairly good but hay and grasses are below the standard of last year. Tame hay is reported 81 per cent of normal, alfalfa 87 per cent and pasture 83 per cent. The outlook for apples is not good generally.

According to reporters the milk production per cow this month was 22.3 pounds as compared with 22.2 pounds last year.

Average preliminary milk prices for May were $1.62 per hundred pounds for the state as a whole as compared with $1.94 a year ago, and the final average of $1.65 for April, this year. Reporters show that during April the average price received for milk in Wisconsin was $2.26; for milk used in manufacture of butter $1.81, for the manufacture of cheese $1.62 and for condensers $1.65. The average test of milk in Wisconsin for April was 8.6 per cent of fat, cream from farms averaged 23.4 per cent fat.

MR. MORROW'S VICTORY

The eyes of the entire country were focused on the primary election in New Jersey. There was widespread interest in the candidacy of Dwight W. Morrow for the Republican nomination for United States senator and in the strength he would show at the polls. The result was what was generally hoped, and we think expected, a great landslide for Mr. Morrow. The vote for him was considerably more than twice that of the combined vote of his opponents. His popularity at the primary assures his election in November, so that we may take it as an accepted fact that the man who first attracted national attention by his distinguished service as ambassador to Mexico will represent New Jersey in the upper branch of congress.

Mr. Morrow ran as an advocate of repeal of the eighteenth amendment and return of liquor control to the several states. While this no doubt strengthened his candidacy, his nomination is not to be attributed to his wet platform. Mr. Morrow would have won regardless of whether he took a stand on prohibition or not. There was a wet candidate against him as well as a dry. Mr. Morrow was nominated because he has captured the popular imagination as a man of fine character, high principles and extraordinary ability. His service in Mexico raised him immediately to the front rank of American diplomats. He served with equal distinction on the American delegation to the London naval conference. Some of the most delicate negotiations were entrusted to his guidance and were successfully terminated. The ambassador has a wide grasp of foreign affairs and, so far as known, in line with progressive American thought. He typifies the wishes of the people in foreign relations in contrast to the fossilized and reactionary politicians who have shown contempt for public opinion by a jingoistic and irrational attitude. All of Mr. Morrow's expressions on public policy, whether domestic or foreign, have stamped him as a man of understanding and intelligence. He has had thorough business training and is an authority on industry, finance and economics. Coupled with this equipment is a democratic spirit, simplicity of living and personal traits which draw public favor.

The New Jersey primary and Mr. Morrow's rise to national eminence are easily the outstanding political events of the year. The wets will stress the importance of his views on prohibition as outweighing all other considerations and as pointing the way to repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Even if this fortunate event should materialize, it would be of very minor significance in comparison with the other potentialities of this interesting personality for public service.

Already there are those who are prophesying that Mr. Hoover will be a one-term president and that Mr. Morrow will succeed him. Although it is too early to risk a prediction so specific it is not an impossibility. On the other hand, while Mr. Hoover's administration is off to a bad start and recovery of lost ground is not yet indicated, it may emerge from its distress with greater strength in 1932 than most persons imagine. Anything can happen in politics. Nevertheless, Mr. Morrow bulks large on the horizon. Certainly there is no better presidential prospect in the Republican party today. Much is to be expected of him. He has shown himself to be as clever and adroit in politics, although a totally new understanding, as he has been wise and practical in private affairs and in the affairs of state. It is a rare combination that almost invariably leads to the highest public honors.

In analyzing and estimating Mr. Morrow's popularity we must not overlook that fortunate connection between his house and Col. Lindbergh. The American people love romance, and Lindy and Anne have produced it in such appealing quality that they add measurably to the popular esteem in which the name of Morrow is held.

ELECTRIC POWER RATES

An incident occurred yesterday at Berlin which attracts world attention, and particularly American, to public utilities questions. An international power conference is being held in that city. Ambassador Frederick M. Sackett, formerly an important figure in the development of public utilities in this country, addressed the conference on the subject of distribution and cost of power services. Statements he made were objected to in advance by Samuel Insull, who is in attendance at the conference. Mr. Insull's objections were so strong that at first Ambassador Sackett was inclined to withdraw his speech, but he later decided to deliver it in its unreserved form.

Mr. Sackett condemned the high cost of power to the American consumer, asserting that the average sale price is 15 times greater than the production cost. He stated that whereas the vast body of users of electric current pay a monthly charge of six cents for household consumption, the current is being produced by efficient electric stations for from three-tenths to four-tenths of a cent. This difference between production cost and sale price he regarded as extraordinary and indefensible, holding that reductions must be made in the sale price if the public utilities business is to approach anything like perfection.

Mr. Sackett warned that if this is not done its partisans, who constitute the basis of public opinion which in the end judges and controls utilities, will take the situation into their own hands. He called attention to the fact that already in the United States "there is a rapidly growing body of public opinion, led by laymen of great ability, which demands governmental competition in rates with private power enterprises. So drastic is the demand that it vocalizes the thought that all water power sources should be government owned and operated. This public clamor cities with enthusiasm the delivered costs of certain municipally owned systems in neighboring countries as proof of the iniquity of charges for electricity by our privately owned plants."

Ambassador Sackett's address, made of course in a private capacity, is a challenge to our public utility kings, of which Samuel Insull is one. No doubt his views will be vigorously contested and his conclusions roundly denounced by utility executives, but the fact remains that an issue is raised which is of the greatest economic and political importance. Conditions in the United States and European countries, where state and municipal ownership of utilities has been developed to a high state, are essentially different. American politics and the weaknesses of municipal and state government here are detrimental to efficient, business-like enterprise. They do not produce anything like the results here they do abroad. But whether the power business is to remain in private hands or is to be taken over by government agencies, it is essential that rates to the consumer shall bear a fair relation to production costs, that the business shall be operated with the greatest efficiency and economy and that profits, whether from income or from financing, shall be adequately shared by the consumer.

If Mr. Sackett's figures are correct, there would seem to be an unjustifiable discrepancy between rates and production costs. Here again, however, a variety of factors has to be considered. There is, of course, the question of reasonable profit and the manner of making it, which must always have direct relationship to a fair price for a commodity. Again there is the spread between the small consumer and the large consumer about which a number of questions might be raised. Mr. Sackett's criticisms concern important issues of policy both with respect to utility management and to regulation.

THE STIGMA OF DISEASE IN THE FAMILY.

The other day in a talk about syphilis in the second generation I told or tried to tell how our views have been changed by new knowledge. For instance, there is now no ground for the notion the syphilis is ever transmitted to the third generation; in fact we know now that syphilis is not inherited, it is only contracted by the child from the mother before birth. Of course the mother owes her infection to the child's father. Physicians conservatively estimate that one in every 40 infants in this country is born syphilitic. The congenitally syphilitic child may present symptoms or signs (familiar to physicians, not to the laity) at birth, the most common the manifestations of the disease occur some days or weeks after birth. Whether manifestation occur at this time or not, congenital syphilis (formerly called "hereditary") is first diagnosed when the child is from 10 to 15 years of age in a great many cases.

In order to teach the laity the most essential truths about this it would be necessary to explain at least the more characteristic symptoms or signs of the disease, and this cannot be done here even if it were not a forbidden subject. I doubt that the laity in its present state of ignorance of hygiene and medicine is capable of understanding the significance or significance of such signs, and anyway, better an ignorant laity than unnecessary unhappiness to anybody. Indeed I was about to set down here what is perhaps the most frequent symptom or signs of congenital syphilis when I recalled an instance in which half knowledge of that very sign brought remorse to a dozen persons. So the jolly old conspiracy of silence must go on for all I can do about it. Novelists, playwrights, psychologists, charlatans and publishers of woodpulp may deal with such subjects as freely and as untruthfully as they wish; doctors and teachers must keep off.

In the roots of the average citizen's family tree one is certain to come upon cases of cancer, tuberculosis, alcoholism, insanity, but not syphilis. That is to say, the four diseases first mentioned are encountered at least once in three or four generations of most families, while syphilis is rather less common.

Personally I had as lief know grandfather had any of the five diseases mentioned as discover he had just a nervous breakdown.

People generally affect extreme squeamishness about any "taint" in the family, meaning one or another of the five diseases mentioned. I blush only for the alcoholic indulgence of my forefathers; I can forgive them for any of the other four diseases, because cancer, tuberculosis, insanity or syphilis may be innocently acquired, thru circumstances over which the victim has no control. No one need be inebriate unless he is a yellow, vicious, degenerate scoundrel to begin with. I am not unmindful of the European custom, even in America, sometimes ply their children with alcoholic beverages on one pretext or another, but so very few inebriates are made in that way that we can ignore it.

As I see it, the only stigma of inheritance that one should be ashamed of is one wilfully acquired.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

No Kidney Authority.

Please print in your column a good authority on kidney complaints. (W. M. C.)

Answer:—If you mean a book, I know of none for lay readers. If you mean a physician or specialist, I shall be glad to name a competent urologist (specialist in diseases of the genito-urinary organs) by private letter if you will inclose a stamped address envelope with your request.

Dope.

What are the effects of 5 grain barbitol tablets taken one or two at bedtime for sleeplessness? (A. F.)

Answer:—Bad, in my opinion.

Artificial Pneumothorax.

Having had artificial pneumothorax suggested in my case I would like to find out more about it. Does one have to be in a hospital? Is the cost prohibitive to one of small means? ... (MCA, MI)

Answer:—Your physician can answer your questions best, and will if he advises the treatment. The patient must be under medical care somewhere. It means injecting into the pleural cavity, at varying intervals, more or less air or nitrogen gas. This causes collapse or retraction of the affected lung, for a time; gives the sick lung a good rest. It is a valuable aid in the treatment of some cases of pulmonary tuberculosis.

Tired, Sweating Feet.

My husband stands all day at his work. He suffers a great deal with tired, aching, sweating feet. (Mrs. H. P.)

Answer:—Send a stamped envelope bearing his address and I will mail him instructions for the relief of the sweating and proper footwear.

Sea Wrack Washes Ashore Again.

Please tell me if sea wrack taken to reduce flesh is harmful. (Mrs. N. T.)

Answer:—Sea wrack, bladderwrack, kelp-wrack, black-lung seaweed, is a common sea weed, and has been much used for the management of iodine, from the ashes of seaweed is also a good fertilizer. It is a good material for making jelly. On the New England coast people often use the dried seaweed as a thickener with cereal breakfast dishes, in soup, and the like. Japanese seaweed (called agar-agar) is a similar variety. Don't be glib about reducing and beware the nostrums that purport to depend on sea weed for their reducing effects.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—At 67 one hardly expects a man to have the same enthusiasm and concern for the athletic prowess of his alma mater that he had when he was an undergraduate.

But no freshman at Harvard gets a bigger kick out of a crimson victory than does a quiet, mild-mannered man who sits in the United States senate representative of the state of New Hampshire.

Henry Wilder Keyes would no more think of missing a Yale-Harvard football game than he would being absent in the United States senate when a vote was to be taken on a question vitally affecting the welfare of the nation.

His interest in Harvard's sports is as lively today as it was when he was out of that institution's outstanding athletes. Seldom indeed in the last 40 years has he missed an important athletic event in which Harvard took part.

RECORD-BREAKER

Old timers will tell you that Henry Wilder Keyes in his day was among the best of athletes.

At Adams academy, where he prepped, he established an interscholastic record for that time on five feet, 10 and one-half inches for the running high jump.

At Harvard he was a quarter of a mile runner and a member of the football squad.

But most of his four years at Harvard was devoted to rowing. In his senior year he was captain of the crew that defeated Yale—an honor that stands in a class to itself in the senator's estimation.

Even now all forms of outdoor sports have a tremendous appeal for him. In these he is not only a spectator and close follower, but a participant as well.

His university training, his inherited wealth and ties of family and friends equipped Keyes for success in any field. But his love for the outdoors caused him to make his home on the farm his father founded in the fertile valley of the Connecticut river.

SIUENS CITY

There he breeds Holstein and Jersey cows, French coach horses, Shropshire sheep and Yorkshire swine. He is regarded as one of the real farmers of the senate and is an authority on agricultural questions.

He says he has never regretted his choice of country life in preference to that of the city. And one of his hobbies is persuading New Hampshire boys to cast their lot in their home state instead of migrating to the metropolitan centers.

He is as proud of the fact that for years he served his home town of Haverhill as a member of the board of select men as he is of his seat in the senate.

In the senate he has little to say. Rarely does he make a speech or engage in debate. He is content to sit at his desk on the front row of the republican side and listen.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—There is in New York a society of natives who can be reasonably sure that their feminine forebears possessed genuine charms.

For the family of each member dates back to a time when the men of this town were protected by law against such bewitching aids to beauty as the fashionable Fifth avenue shops now dispense to the modern woman.

This group is called the St. Nicholas society and a member, Laurence Le Tourrette Briggs, has dug up the old law. It reads:

"All women who shall impose upon, seduce and betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects, by virtue of scents, cosmetics, washes, paints, artificial teeth, false hair or high heeled shoes, shall incur the penalty of the law now in force against witchcraft and like misdemeanors."

That was in 1765, exactly 20 years before the St. Nicholas society was founded to perpetrate the sociability of New York's first families.

OLD FAMILIES

Washington Irving was the first secretary of the organization. The present secretary is Theodore Roosevelt Pell, whose ancestor among the founders was the Pell who gave his name to a now famous Chinatown street.

Membership of the St. Nicholas society is limited to descendants of families that were living in New York prior to 1785. On its roster are some of the cities most celebrated names—the Astors, the Roosevelts, the Vanderbilts, the Ingrams and the Finches.

One of its presidents was Chauncey Depew, whose son is a member.

Purely social, the society meets for dinner twice a year. It now has more than 650 members.

ESOTERIC HARLEM

Harlem still is the favorite spot for slummers and wise New Yorkers get a dusky friend to take them around to the low-down cabarets, instead of the night clubs maintained for the white patronage.

This procedure now has the recommendation of no less an authority than Mrs. Paul Robeson, in a book about her actor-husband. For genuine negro night life, she recommends the hardboiled Sugar Cane night club.

A usual tour of Harlem by those who know begins either at a negro theater or at one of the public dances.

At the former the visitors hear Ethel Waters, or Bessie, Mamie or Clara Smith sing those haunting blues that have made them famous down on Broadway.

At the ball they see Harlem at its gayest. Hundreds of couples laughing and shouting back and forth in probably the most exotic dance in town.

In the night club afterward, this dance, peculiar to the negroes, takes on the intensity of a jungle ceremony, lasting until daybreak, when the slummers go back downtown for breakfast.

2 Appleton Eagles On Committees

TWO Appleton delegates were appointed to state committees at the opening session of the twenty-seventh annual state convention of Fraternal Order of Eagles Wednesday night at Oshkosh. They are Oscar Krueger, past president of Appleton, who was named on the resolution committee, and Arthur Daelke, president, who will serve on the membership committee.

Those who attended the Wednesday session from Appleton included Peter Rademacher, Arthur Daelke, Oscar Krueger, and Charles Schimpf. Judge Fred V. ## The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Sarah's slender firm white fingers put her teacup down quickly at Miss Parson's complacent statement that Sue was in love with Jack. She felt that she was committing treachery by listening to the woman talk but the private secretary dispelled that thought almost at once.

"Sue is sweet and pretty in a day when a girl should be aggressive. She'll love but she won't grasp. And somebody told her that it wasn't lady-like to fight, so she doesn't do it. That little dub of a Barbara is going to walk away with the prize and she won't lift a finger. Oh, well, it's just a passing infatuation. I suppose. She can probably love someone else just as easily."

"Love... real love... lasts forever," Sarah said, more to convince herself than Miss Parsons.

"Woman's love, once in a while yes. One out of 50 times is a pretty safe gamble. Man's love, never!"

"But it does. If it doesn't, nothing is stable and stationary or safe."

Miss Parsons put a capable blue-veined hand on the girl's impulsive fingers. "Life has to be that way, Sarah child. Otherwise broken hearts couldn't heal. It's life balm from Gilead. Forgetting. Sue will be all right. And so will you."

"I'll be I can take care of myself. I can be hard when I have to be... and laugh the joke down. The whole thing is sort of play. Just getting the man part with the leading man, or being in the supporting cast."

"Wait a while," Miss Parsons talked on. "Frustrations and loss of faith in those you trust make your heart older than misfortunes."

Sarah rose to go. "If you laugh and keep it to yourself what are the odds?" she asked lightly, because she didn't feel like being gay and had to keep the mask adjusted.

"Anyway, if you got the leading man he might have halitosis or dandruff on his collar."

Jack came in as she finished talking and even Sarah noticed that his eyes looked around the office for Sue. She smiled a little grimly. This was a wise move of Sue's. No girl should ever remain permanently in the place where a man expected to find her. He would forget her if he was too sure of her... but the more sure he had once been the more he would miss her if she did the going away.

"Could you take some letters, Miss Parson?"

Flapper Fanny Says:

Habits are like cozy beds—hard to get out of.

Parson's?" he asked, as Sarah prepared to leave.

"I'm sorry, but I have a dinner engagement and I'm hurrying to get through," she answered very politely.

"Never mind I'll get Sue to come in tonight and do them. She will."

"She can't," Sarah answered lightly. "She's all dated up. Why not let Barbara have a fling at throwing commas and periods after words? She adores it."

"Her work isn't along stenographic lines," Jack answered. "I want the letters to look decent."

"Don't tell her that. The door opened again and Sue, smart in the new black and white ensemble, her eyes deep, smoldering blue, a little pliant because they were sure of the effect they created, faced them.

NEXT—Sue refuses Jack's request. (Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

SOUTHERN END OF LAKE MICHIGAN IS HIGHLY POLLUTED

Water There Is Most Difficult To Purify Of Any In Great Lakes

Washington—(AP)—A study of the water purification problem on the Great Lakes conducted by the United States Public Health Service has resulted in a finding that the most highly polluted zone of the Great Lakes from which water is taken for purification was located at the extreme southern end of Lake Michigan, where, the Health Service said, "existing purification systems are clearly overburdened."

Other zones of relatively high, though not in all cases excessive pollution, were found to be at the extreme western end of Lake Erie at the outlet of the Detroit river, and along the southern shore of Lake Erie between Cleveland and Sandusky.

The survey was made at the joint request of interested local and state authorities. Studies were made of fourteen representative municipal water filtration plants on the lakes and connecting waterways, including the plants at Detroit and Cleveland.

"Owing to the great importance of the Great Lakes region from standpoints of population, commerce and industry," the report of the study said, "the maintenance of safe water supplies along these lakes constitutes one of the major problems of the country in this respect."

With the increasing pollution of sources of water supply located in various marginal zones of the lakes, this problem is becoming more difficult one each year, taxing, at present, in some instances, the resources of modern water purification.

"The difficulties of obtaining safe purified water supplies from the Great Lakes are magnified considerably by the extreme variability existing in conditions of pollution of the lake waters at the several water intakes, which are located in or close to marginal zones of shore pollution, where water movements are subject to the vagaries of winds and counter currents. In some instances the pollution of these zones probably is subject to seasonal variation, due to large increases in the sewered population residing along the lakes during the summer vacation season."

"As regards the comparative bacterial efficiency of the Great Lakes and the Ohio river plants, the former were shown consistently to be slightly less efficient with chlorination included and decidedly less efficient with chlorination excluded, than the latter group."

CAN'T EXPLAIN DIFFERENCE

Detailed analyses of the data failed to disclose the reason for these divergences, which do not appear to be explained, as currently assumed, by the relatively lower turbidity of Great Lakes water. It is suggested that they possibly be due to differences in the chemical composition of the two waters, notably in the hydrogen-ion concentration.

The full statement of the Health Service on the subject reads:

"The efficiency of municipal water purification systems located along the Great Lakes from which approximately ten millions of people derive their water supply and into which the sewage and industrial wastes of about five and one-half millions of population are discharged, is the subject of a report recently issued by the United States Public Health Service. The report is based on a survey of fourteen representative municipal water filtration plants situated on the Great Lakes and connecting waterways, including the plants at Detroit and Cleveland. The survey, which was made at the joint request of interested local and state authorities, was an extension of previous surveys of a similar nature made along the Ohio and other rivers of the Middle-Western and Eastern states."

"Owing to the great importance of the Great Lakes region from standpoints of population, commerce and industry, the maintenance of safe water supplies along the lakes constitutes one of the major problems of the country in this respect. With the increasing pollution of sources of water supply located in various marginal zones of the lakes, this problem is becoming more difficult one each year, taxing, at present in some instances, the resources of modern water purification."

DIFFERENCE IN PLANTS

"As regards the comparative bacterial efficiency of the Great Lakes and the Ohio river plants, the former were shown consistently to be slightly less efficient with chlorination included and decidedly less efficient with chlorination excluded, than the latter group."

tion included and decidedly less efficient with chlorination excluded, than the latter group. Detailed analyses of the data failed to disclose the reason for these divergences, which do not appear to be explained, as currently assumed, by the relatively lower turbidity of Great Lakes water. It is suggested that they possibly be due to differences in the chemical composition of the two waters, notably in the hydrogen-ion concentration.

"From a study of the relationships observed between the bacterial quantities of the raw waters and effluents of the Great Lakes plants and from an analysis of their variations, it was concluded, in so far as the production of final effluents conforming to the revised treasury department B. Coll standards is concerned, that an average density of B. Coll in Great Lakes raw waters, as delivered for purification approximately an index of 4500 per liter appears to represent an upper limit of permissible pollution, beyond which a majority of the Great Lakes filtration plants as at present designed and operated, would be clearly overburdened. In cases ranging from 1000 to 4500 per 100 cc represent a doubtful zone, within which some plants might be and others might not be overburdened for a given time. With average densities ranging from 1000 per 100 cc, the majority of such plants would not be expected to be overburdened except for a comparatively small proportion of the time. Among the areas studied, the most highly polluted zone of the Great Lakes from which water is taken for purification was located at the extreme southern end of Lake Michigan, where existing purification systems are clearly overburdened. Other zones of relatively high pollution, were found to be at the extreme western end of Lake Erie at the outlet of the Detroit river, and along the southern shore of Lake Erie between Cleveland and Sandusky."

Council Would Reroute Highway 10 Through City

BADGER - AVE IS SUGGESTED BY ALDERMEN

Also Considers Request Of Optional Route Of 41 Down College-ave

Recommendation that Highway 10, now routed over Memorial-dr., Richmond-st. and Wisconsin-ave., be changed to S. Oneida-st., Seymour-st., Memorial-dr. and Badger-ave., was made by the common council at its meeting Wednesday night.

The request that an optional business route of Highway 41, which also goes over Memorial-dr., Richmond-st. and Wisconsin-ave., be located down College-ave. was referred to the street and bridge committee.

The Greenspoon property controversy re-appeared in the form of a proposal from Joseph Greenspoon that his property be placed in the local business district. Mr. Greenspoon's offer provides for a bond of $25,000 that will guarantee the discontinuance of the junk business that has been an eyesore to residents on Wisconsin-ave. and Alvin-st. for so many years. The matter, after considerable discussion, was turned over to the planning commission.

New York—Somebody has slipped the news to Paris couturiers that while Paris may not be so hot in summer, a lot of American cities are. Consequently, linen pajamas appear on the horizon. Not the linen pajamas blooming here and there in the U. S. A., but linen pajamas whose translucence is rendered transparent by insets of lace and cut-out patterns which—well, really! Warm stuff, if one knows what one means, but so cool.

Since evening gowns have grown simple and girlish in line, evening cloaks have grown gaga in gorgeousness. It's just nothing, these pleasant evenings, to wrap yourself in transparent velvet of some such retiring combination of shades as American beauty plus orange, or in metal cloth bedecked with crystals, rhinestones, or huge, imitation stones. Turning night into day? The Aurora borealis.

Among the summerish slippers for afternoon wear are those in kid-skin of a pastel color with a tiny design of flowers in various shades around the top. With these, you may, if you like, wear a floral necklace and gloves with the tops similarly decorated.

ZONING ORDINANCE IS PRESENTED TO COMMON COUNCIL

Measure Is Referred To Committee Without Reading, Ordered Published

Neenah—The new ordinance regulating residential, local, business, commercial and light manufacturing, and heavy industrial districts in the city of Neenah, covering more than 25 typewritten pages, was introduced to the council Wednesday evening at its mid-monthly session. The ordinance, prepared by the planning commission for the past five years and the city attorney, was referred to a committee without reading and ordered published. A call will be issued for a meeting at which citizens can voice their objections. Following the hearing, the ordinance will be referred back to the planning commission which may make alterations if any and again submit the corrected ordinance to the council for adoption.

The ordinance not only sets the building lines, locations of the different kinds of business and residential districts, but sets up a building code, calls for a building inspector and a board of appeals to consist of five members to be appointed by the mayor. The ordinance sets a building height of 35 feet or 2 1/2 stories for residences and 100 feet for public buildings such as hospitals, telephone central offices and such buildings in residential districts. In the local business section the building height is 45 feet; in the commercial and light manufacturing district and the heavy manufacturing district, 100 feet. It sets forth the setback line along which building must be built in new blocks and in blocks where buildings already have been erected there must not be more than six feet difference in the line.

The ordinance provides that no building shall hereafter be erected or altered in the residential districts unless otherwise provided in the ordinance except for one or more of the following uses:

HERE ARE EXCEPTIONS

One family dwelling, two family dwelling, private clubs and lodges, excepting those the chief activity of which is the service customarily carried on as business; boarding or lodging houses, (special sections in the ordinance provide for these); hospitals, schools or colleges, telephone central offices, libraries, museums, parks, playgrounds, golf clubs, recreational and community buildings owned by the city, farming and truck gardening, railway right of ways, nurseries, conservatories and greenhouses. No signs exceeding eight feet square are allowed; a doctor, surgeon, dentist, contractor, musician or artist may have his office in his home and display a sign not more than one foot square on the front of the building.

Dwelling houses for more than two families may be constructed or structurally altered with special permit by the council after an application with full plans has been presented to the planning commission for its approval. Approval given, a published notice of the meeting of the council at which the request is to be acted upon must be made and if owners of 20 per cent of the property on the frontage or rear opposite it, it shall require three-fourths of the vote of the council before the building can go up. No fences over four feet high will be allowed except for ornamental or decorative purposes. All new territory annexed shall be residential until definite boundaries place it in other districts.

In the local business districts, the rules are about the same as the residential districts for other uses except bakeries employing more than five persons; cannelling, laundries except when applied with a bush by hand; poultry killing, greasing or live storage except for retail sale on premises only; any kind of manufacturing or treatment other than the manufacturing and treatment of products incidental to conduct of a retail business on the premises.

LIST RESTRICTIONS

Apartment business in this district are under about the same restrictions as in the residential districts.

The commercial and light manufacturing districts are the same as the residential or local business districts except that when a lot is used for residential purposes the regulations governing residential districts shall prevail. In this district no building shall be erected or used for any purpose which has been declared a nuisance, such as one emitting smoke, gas, noises or odors.

The heavy industrial districts contain the mills, factories and such manufacturing plants not allowed in the other three districts. They are set by themselves along the railways and water power. This district is exclusive for such business.

The ordinance contained many pages of boundaries, designating the four different districts. This is contained on a map which has been completed by the engineer and is part of the ordinance. The ordinance was presented by Attorney John O'Leary who assisted in compiling it.

A request from the Wisconsin-Michigan Power and Light company, for privilege to lay more gas mains on Third, Clark-sts. and Franklin-ave, was referred to the board of public works. A communication from the Wisconsin Fire Insurance Bureau at Milwaukee, requesting that a committee be made to the railway commission, was referred to the committee on fire department.

REPORTS ON BUSES

Attorney O'Leary, to whom was referred the matter of securing bus service to the cemetery from the Wisconsin Power and Light company, reported that a complaint had been made to the railway commission. He believed, however, that this could be settled by negotiation.

AMERICAN LEAGUE IN FIRST ROUND OF GAMES

Neenah — The American softball league completed its first round of games in the playground schedule Wednesday evening, with exception of the game between the Telephone-Power team and Grocers No. 2. The grocers failed to appear, so a pickup team, which defeated the Power boys, was organized. This will not count as a forfeit for the Grocers as the printed schedules were conflicting. In the other games, the Bergstrom Papers defeated the Jerrold Clothes 15 and 0, and the Kimberly-Clarks defeated Draheims Sports 19 and 2. Columbian park is now in good shape and ready for the scheduled games for the remainder of the week.

Next Wednesday evening the Bergstrom Papers will play the Telephone-Power team at Columbian park; Kimberly-Clarks will play the Grocers at Doty park and Draheim Sports and Jerrold will play at Columbian park. The game between the Grocers and Telephone-Power (which probably will be played Friday evening at the Washington school diamonds).

TWO IN HOSPITAL WITH BROKEN LEGS

Neenah — Lewis Stutz of High Cliff and Reinhardt Wiese of Neenah are at Theda Clark hospital with fractured legs. The former received his injuries Wednesday afternoon while at work at the High Cliff stone quarry and the latter while employed as a carpenter by Anton Nielson of Neenah.

Actions already are under way by the Wisconsin-Michigan Power and Light company to take over the route between Fond du Lac and Green Bay. The attorney will go to Madison Friday to attend the hearing called by the commission.

Alderman Schmidt claimed that the last Memorial day business was a good test. Fares did not amount to enough to pay the driver, he said, he suggested dropping the matter. Alderman Martens questioned this action. A motion to drop the proposal was carried, all voting aye except Mrs. Stuart and Alderman Martens.

Alderman H. G. Rasmussen suggested the revival of the 5 cent fare to any part of the city but his proposal was frowned upon.

A new ordinance regulating the manufacture and sale of non-intoxicating liquors was presented. It adds a bond of $200 from each applicant to protect the city against violations of the ordinance, together with the $50 license fee. The new ordinance also requires that screens, booths etc. which obstruct a clear view from the street, be removed. It does not allow the sale of liquors in any other room or booth other than that for which the license describes. Applications for non-intoxicating liquor licenses were presented by William Schmidt, E. L. Martin, Walter Parr, Henry Steffens and H. E. Loehning. All were granted except the latter's. His application will be investigated.

Bids for the cement work on the approaches to the improved streets were considered too high by the board of public works. Traffic regulations on Brien-st must be made clearer, it was decided. The finance committee recommended payment of bills amounting to $23,566.73, of which $19,000 is for pavement. A walk will be placed on Seventh-st between Hewitt and Nicolet-sts, according to a resolution adopted by the council.

A baseball game between the officers and a picked team of the brigadiers was called on account of darkness with the officers on the short end of the score. The evening closes with the camp fire program featuring short talks about previous camping periods at Onaway, and some snappy band music interspersed with songs. ## SPECULATE OVER POLICY COVERING U. S. SECURITIES

Many Loans, Maturing in Next Six Months Redeemable in 1931

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)
Wall Street, New York (CPA)—
The 2 1/2 per cent issue of treasury notes offered for subscription last week and covered six times over by the banks, which eagerly bid for a short term tax exempt issue, are today selling at a premium of about 1 per cent. In the light of the subsequent market response to these notes, it is now believed that Secretary Mellon could have successfully negotiated a one-year loan at 2 1/2 per cent.

In view of this situation there is considerable speculation in investment circles specializing in government notes and treasury certificates, as to the future policy of the treasury department toward the large body of government securities that mature in the next six months and may be redeemed in 1931.

There are approximately $14,500,- 000 of United States government loans outstanding. These are divided into 16 different issues of treasury bills, treasury certificates, treasury notes, liberty bonds and treasury bonds.

FIRST DUE 1947
The first Liberty 4 1/2's fall due on June 15, 1947, but payment may be anticipated by 15 years, or on June 15, 1932. The fourth Liberty loan, which constitutes over 75 per cent of all the liberty bonds in existence, matures Oct. 15, 1938, but the earliest redemption date is five years prior to this time, or in the autumn of 1933.

In the last group are five issues of treasury bonds totalling $3,135,- 000,000. They are known as the "long term treasuries" and mature between 1934 and 1956. The earliest redemption date is that of the 2 3/4 per cent bonds which, according to the agreement written into the contract, might be retired in 1940. The earliest advance payment for the 3 1/2's of 1947 is in 1943, with the next two issues redeemable ten years before their final maturity. The 4 1/2 per cent treasury bonds may be taken up in 1947 against the actual maturity of 1952. It is doubtful if any of these issues would be subject to anticipated payments.

The treasury policy, therefore,
would most naturally deal with the notes that may be redeemed in 1931 and with the liberty bonds on which payment may be put ahead to 1932 and 1933.

$990,000,000 IN FIRST
In the first group of treasury discount bills and treasury certificates the total sum is $990,000,000, all of which is subject to redemption between July 14 and Dec. 15 this year.
In the second group of treasury certificates and treasury notes, the outstanding amount is $2,310,000,000, which is due between June 15, 1931, and Dec. 15, 1932. However, of this total, three issues of 2 3/4 per cent notes, aggregating approximately $1,731,000,000, may be redeemed in advance of their maturity. It is understood, for instance, that the treasury notes whose life expires on March 15, 1932, will be called for payment on March 15, 1931. Payment of the Sept. 15, 1932, notes possibly will be anticipated, as will those due Dec. 15, 1932.

Of the original liberty loans, all but the first 3 1/2 per cent issue, the first 4 1/2's and the fourth 4 1/2's, aggregating $8,196,000,000, have been retired through various refunding operations. The first liberty 3 1/2's, which are fully tax exempt, mature June 15, 1947. They may be redeemed as early as June 15.

There is at present an insatiable demand for short term, high grade securities and an indifferent inquiry for long term securities. Those who are closest to the markets for government bonds, and at the same time in a position to estimate the probable trend of money in the next six months, do not feel that Secretary Mellon is ready to undertake the issue of long term government securities. In the event that interest rates decline further so that it would be possible to sell a 3 per cent long government maturity, he might, however, consider such an operation in connection with anticipating payment on the 3 1/2 per cent treasury notes due in 1932 but call-able in 1931. The larger project has

OFFICERS CERTAIN HAROLD SCHROEDER IS STILL LIVING

Two Letters To Wife After Burned Body Is Found Are Chief Clues

Mobile, Ala. — (AP) — Convinced that Harold Herbert Schroeder is alive, authorities today regarded two letters from him to his wife and a raincoat of the type worn by young students as the most important clues in their effort to find Schroeder and identify a charred body discovered in the ruins of his automobile near Indianapolis, Ind., May 31.
Questioning the wife of the Mobile,
Ala., businessman, Sheriff George

to do with his policy toward the first and fourth liberty loans, which may be redeemed in 1932 and in 1933 and which at that time it is hoped may be refunded on a better basis than the per cent rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

L. Winkler of Marion, Co., Ind., learned that two letters were written from Nashville, Tenn., by Schroeder several days after his car and the body were discovered. One was dated June 6, she said. Officers quoted Mrs. Schroeder as saying the letters had been misplaced, but that her husband had said only that he was "all right" and that she would hear from him later.

The raincoat, with the letters "S.
A. H. S." printed on the back, was carried by a hitch hiker, who was picked up near where Schroeder's car was found, authorities said, and a blanket, carried by the same man has been identified as belonging to Schroeder.

In the belief that the raincoat may have been the property of the victim in the car and that the last moment indicated its wearer was a high school student, the sheriff was seeking to check southern schools for missing pupils.

Authorities said they were investigating reports that Schroeder's insurance, including double indemnity in some policies, aggregated $84,- 000.

FORMER FEDERAL OFFICER MAY FACE U. S. CHARGES

San Francisco — (AP) — Testimony
by Roy Olmstead, convicted "rum king," was being weighed here today by United States Commissioner Arthur Fisk to determine whether C. T. McKinney, former assistant federal attorney at Seattle, must return to Washington state to face charges of bribery and conspiracy.

At McKinney's removal hearing yesterday Olmstead, who was brought from McNeil Island federal prison as a witness for both the defense and the government, testified he had paid the former federal attorney thousands of dollars and given him quantities of liquor in return for information and other favors.

Olmstead asserted he paid McKinney $3,000 supposedly to further the gubernatorial ambitions of former United States attorney Thomas Re-velle of Washington state.

In Seattle, Revelle said he Mc-Kinney "took money from the Olmstead crowd. God help him."

McKinney was indicted with Northwest Prohibition Administrator
Roy C. Lyle and other federal dry officers under Lyle.

SEEK TO STABILIZE CHEESE INDUSTRY

Madison — (AP) — Stabilization of the cheese industry will be the goal of the state-wide conference of farmers and business men here to-morrow. Charles Hill, chairman of the department of agriculture and markets, said today.

"The situation in the cheese industry calls for action," Mr. Hill said. "Wisconsin, producing 70 per cent of the cheese in the nation, occupies a strategic position in any plan looking toward the stabilization not only of the cheese but of the dairy industry in general. No healthy and stable conditions are possible in the other branches of this industry if cheese does not give the producer a return to cover cost of production and a reasonable compensation for his efforts."

"In its call to the conference the department of agriculture and markets not only included individuals and groups directly connected with the cheese industry but also representatives of the business and industrial groups of the state with the idea in mind that business and industrial stability can be attained only when the stability of our basic industry, agriculture, is assured."

"RADIO CITY" IS ONLY THREE YEARS AWAY IN NEW YORK

Site Will Be Home Of Radio Movies For This Nation And World

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1936, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—"Radio City," from which the radio movies of the future and the utmost that broadcasting has to offer will percolate into the homes of the nation and across the oceans, is three years away.

In the heart of New York City will be located this vast entertainment enterprise, costing $250,000,000 to be advanced by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Television, when it arrives, is cared for generously in the plans, and each of the four mammoth theatres and halls in the architectural group will be equipped for broadcasting. The Radio Corporation of America and its various entertainment subsidiaries of the "electrical entertainment" aspects of the unprecedented project.

A skyscraper, 60 stories high, will accommodate 27 broadcasting studios for the National Broadcasting Company, R. C. A. subsidiary. Ten are to be equipped for photography, which means prospective broadcasting of television, and for the production of phonograph records by the Radio-Victor Talking Machine company, another subsidiary. Several of the studios will be two or three stories high.

The four theatres will be leased and operated by the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation. Besides these, the R. C. A., N. B. C., R. C. A.-Victor, the R. K. O. corporation, Radio Pictures and R. C. A. Phonograph, will lease more than a million square feet of space in the various office structures to be erected in this "radio metropolis." The executive offices of the R. C. A. are to be in the 60-story building.

READY IN 1933
The entire project, to link broadcasting, opera, vaudeville, sound pictures and symphony of the present, and television of the future, will be completed in the fall of 1933, according to official announcements. Ground will be broken within the next few months, three square blocks in downtown New York will be covered.

The new development, according to David Sarnoff, president of R. C. A., "will provide an interchangeability of service and technique that should do much to advance all of the arts encompassed in the era of electrical entertainment." The artist who steps upon the variety stage, with the developments in sight broadcasting promised eventually, "may step before a nationwide and even a world-wide audience," he declared.

Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of N. B. C. in this enthusiastic endorsement of the project, said that television, although still largely in the "toddling stage," cannot be ignored in planning for the future. "We are building our new studios therefore, for tomorrow as well as for today," he said.

The "cultural purposes" of the enterprise are stressed. The underlying thought and the one that won over the sponsorship of Mr. Rockefeller to the project — is that the public service which the field of electrical entertainment can render will depend more and more upon the liaison they are able to maintain with the entertainment and educational arts. All of the cultural entertainment are to be next door neighbors in "Radio City."

There already is speculation that S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel, veteran radio artist, will be director of the project.

ONE PRESCRIPTION MADE FAMILY DOCTOR FAMOUS

Seldom has any single act been of greater benefit to mankind than that of Dr. Caldwell in 1885, when he wrote the prescription which has carried his fame to the four corners of the earth.

Over and over, Dr. Caldwell wrote the prescription as he found men, women and children suffering from those common symptoms of constipation, such as coated tongue, bad breath, headaches, gas, nausea, biliousness, no energy, lack of appetite, and similar things.

Demand for this prescription grew so fast, because of the pleasant, quick way it relieved such symptoms of constipation, that by 1888 Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it put up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is always ready at any drug store.

Collegiate Oarsmen Are Heavier, Taller This Year

RECORDS INDICATE LIGHTER CREWS MADE BEST TIME
Rowing Styles Haven't Changed Much in Recent Years But Men Have

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer
OUGHEEPSIE, N. Y.—(AP)—The present type of college oarsman, encamped on the banks of the Hudson for the thirty-third annual intercollegiate regatta, June 26, averages from five to fifteen pounds heavier and from an inch to three inches taller per man than his predecessor of pre-war days.

Whether the race of college youth has increased in stature and in bulk during the last 20 or 30 years, the styles in rowing builds have changed entirely.

The present Naval Academy eight, for instance, is listed as averaging 153 pounds and 6 feet 11 inches, whereas the Cornell crew of 1901, which set a course record that stood for 27 years registered only 1051 pounds and 5 feet 9 1/2 inches.

Whether the race of college youth has increased in stature and in bulk during the last 20 or 30 years, the styles in rowing builds have changed entirely.

Jim Ten Eyck, Jr., son of the famous Syracuse rowing coach, weighed 168 and measured 5 feet, 8 1/2 inches, when he paced the orange to victory in 1908 in one of the ten feature races rowed on this historic course.

Cornell in 1908 was stroked by E. A. Briggs, who was 25 years old, five feet, 6 inches tall and scaled only 133 pounds, although most of Courtney's stroke oars were around the 170-pound mark.

In this present age of beef and brawn in the pace setter's seat, the only job that a man of Briggs' diminutive proportions could get in a Doughkeepsie varsity crew would be the coxswain's assignment. Compare his modest measurements, for example, with the 6 feet, 4 1/2 inches of Duncan Gregg, California stroke, the 160 pounds of Earlly St. E. Shilton, Navy pacemaker of the bulk of Big Bill Blesse of Columbia, 6 feet, 3 inches and 190 pounds.

Yet despite the great discrepancy in favor of the present generation, the records indicate considerable doubt as to whether the modern eighters are faster. Of the six fastest winning times ever made over the four-mile Hudson river course, five were registered by Cornell crews between 1901 and 1912, although California's Olympic crew of 1928 holds the record.

SEYMOUR WINS THIRD GAME IN LEAGUE PLAY

| Galesburg | 4 | 2 | .667 |

Sports Question Box

Question—Runners were on first and second. One hand was out. A left handed batter was at home plate and bunted down the first base line. The ball rolled fair for about forty feet and the batsman, carrying his bat with him, dropped it so that the ball rolled back into fair territory. What decision should be made?

Answer—Call the batter out for interference if he marred the play on the ball.

Question—How many fights has Max Schmeling had? Jack Sharkey? What were the results?

Answer—Schmeling fifty-two fights. 31 knockouts, won 16, knocked out by 2, lost 1, disqualified 2. Sharkey, fights 14, knockouts 14, won 20, draws 1, lost 5, no decision 2, knocked out by 2.

Question—On a foul tip that is not caught must the batter return to his base?

Answer—Yes. That is the same as any foul.

Question—How many national lawn tennis titles has Bill Tilden won?

Answer—He has won seven.

Valley League Gossip

George Verbrick has been signed to do the shortstop for Appleton while Eddie Kotal is getting a post-graduate degree in football at Columbia university. Verbrick is a sure throwing fielder and fair with the stick.

Vanderloop of Kim-Little Chute is a pretty game chucker. Clusman whistled one at him a mile a minute. The ball struck Vandy on the shin bone. He made the throw to first for the out and then tumbled for a delayed count.

One of the surprises of the season has been the clouting of Van Wyck who is doing duty in the outfield for Kaukauna. The Naw slugger is slashing the apple for a plus .440 average besides showing class in the field.

Every once in a while Dats Crowe, elongated Appleton hurler, has his day and is unbeatable. Crowe was very much on against Neo-Menasha. The Pails didn't even see third base and Appleton kept the beam at home, 9 to 0.

Green Bay emerged from the cellar by putting the skids under Kim-Little Chute 4 to 3. The Papermakers got three runs off Dave Zuidmuller in the first frame but, after that, the Packer footballer, had them well tamed.

Getting to Eastling for five runs in the fourth stanza and picking up another paid in the seventh, Kaukauna waltzed through a 7-5 victory over Wisconsin Rapids. The Hubertites rally in the ninth fell short two markers.

The Valley league race is a blank affair. Nearly every Sunday sees

YALE CREW FAVORED TO BEAT HARVARD
New London, Conn.—(P)—Unless experts are grossly deceived, the annual naval battle between Yale and Harvard tomorrow on the Thames river will develop nothing more startling than a pageant of Blue oarsmanship, so far as the varsity engagement is concerned.

Yale today ruled an overwhelming favorite to win for the ninth time in ten years. Based upon the conclusive evidence of form manifest so far this year, critical opinion was unanimous that only an accident or bad break of racing luck could prevent the Elis from out-rowing their rivals over the four mile course.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
NUTE ROCKNE says he wouldn't stay in the coaching game two minutes if he thought that football was returning to a spectacle of brute strength. Knute thinks that if the rule makers slow up the shift until its value is nullified, football will lose its popularity. The game's success, he thinks, is a result of 'opening up' so the spectators can see what's going on. Leg-islation against the shift will have no effect on Notre Dame football style, says Rockne. "Our backfield comes to a complete stop after every shift," he comments, "and that is all that opponents of the play demand. The rules state that an official must count to six rapidly between shift and attack. If an official doesn't stutter, he will have no trouble with us."

There is a lot of good first base players in the Valley loop this season. Wisconsin Rapids has picked up a star in Judnik; Skell, the Kim-Little Chute veteran, is still a star and Harry Leopold hasn't slipped a single bit.

The weather man hasn't been so good to the Valley leagues this season. Wisconsin Rapids are cropping up. However, the schedule makers provided some open dates and all the postponed arguments will be cleared away.

George Boehm is being used again in the outfield for Green Bay. The veteran is a first class fly hawk and is a willing worker all the way and, at times, dangerous up there swinging.

There should be fireworks again on Sunday in the Valley loop as Wisconsin Rapids invades Neo-Menasha; Kaukauna will be at home to Joe (The) man's folk from Green Bay while Appleton goes to Kim-Little Chute.

FANS WONDER ABOUT STRIB-OTTO FIGHT

Indications Are Fighters Are Trying To Run Out On Bout

Chicago—(P)—The off again, on again heavyweight match between Otto von Porat and W. L. "Young" Stribling, now scheduled for the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night, had the fight fans, state boxing commission and even the promoters guessing today.

Stadium officials were determined and positive the 10 round battle would be held on schedule but the fight fans were skeptical, claiming neither fighter wanted to meet the other and fearing a last minute "run out".

Originally, the match was billed for June 17, by verbal agreement with the fighters. Von Porat and his manager, Ed Stevenson, later declined to sign, however, until the commission suspended them for 60 days and redated the match for June 18. Tuesday, Stribling requested the match be postponed, complaining he had injured his left hand in training. The commission's physician said he could detect nothing radically wrong with the hand but the fight again was postponed until Friday night.

Yesterday, two days before the fight, Stribling refused to do any boxing, complaining his hand was sprained. Stadium officials, however, said they were convinced he was in condition to go through with his engagement.

BANKERS DEFEAT BADGER PRINTERS

Score Runs In Third, Fourth and Fifth Innings To Cop, 9 And 2

Pounding out five runs in the third inning, in the fourth and three more in the fifth, the Banker softball team in the National league won easily from the Badger Printers Wednesday evening at Pierce park, the final score being 9 and 2.

Tallies for the Bankers in the third frame were marked up by King, Woehler, McKenzie, Schroeder and Wagner with the latter counting again in the fourth frame. The three markers in the fifth were scored by Woehler, MacKenzie and Stoegbauer.

The Printers found the going tough in the first three innings of the fracas but got a man as far as third and another on second in the fourth frame. They repeated the stunt in the fifth but it was the sixth inning before they finally tallied a run, Bill Timmers scoring. Another run was counted in the seventh inning and after that peace and quiet again reigned until the end of the game.

MacKenzie and Stoegbauer worked for the Bankers and Jacobson and Harrimann for the Printers.

CHICAGO TO FIGHT GARDEN INVASION

Chicago—(P)—Chicago fight promoters, notably the Stadium management, intend to build a high fence around their local show field this summer and hereafter to repel the rumored invasion by Madison Square Garden.

"I see by the papers that Madison Square Garden is talking about coming into Chicago with a big fight," maybe Schmeling and Sharkey or Strotz, president of the Chicago Stadium said. "Well, the Stadium will not sit by idly and let outsiders horn in."

Other promoters here voiced the same sentiment.

Kid Chocolate's Manager Puts Shylock To Shame

BY WILBUR WOOD
Copyright 1930
NEW YORK—The ink on the contracts for the Kid Chocolate-Jack Berg bout at the Polo Grounds on August 7 was hardly dry before the mob in Frank Bruen's office in the garden launched into a raucous debate as to whether Bergs junior welterweight title would be at stake.

The weight conditions of this match are unusual, as is not infrequently the case when Chocolate is one of the principals. Luis Gutierrez, the Keed's manager, puts Shylock to shame when it comes to exacting his portion of human flesh. Whereas Shylock dealt in pound measures, Luis is not averse to quibbling over ounces.

The official contracts call for 135 pounds, but a side agreement has been reached for Berg to make 134.5. Senior Gutierrez figures that it will be difficult for Berg to do 125 and that by forcing him half a pound lower he may not be able to climb into the ring under his own power. The senior worked the same racket on Al Singer last summer.

No sooner were the articles signed than Gutierrez announced, in protest (Castilian, that Chocolate would be

Simmons, Fox, Miller Get Consecutive Home Runs As Athletics Win

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

TO a disinterested observer it would appear that the scene of a ball game should not make much difference in the result where such seasoned campaigners as major league players are concerned, but it does not always work out that way. The National league clubs of the east, which are just opening their second western tour, found surprising success at home but it is rather doubtful whether they will continue it on the road.

The New York Giants, who routed their intersectional opponents to the tune of nine victories in 12 games at the Polo Grounds, had a large amount of trouble yesterday in taking their first game of the tour from the Pittsburg Pirates, who won but four out of 13 away from home. The final count was 4 to 3 for New York, and it took a sparkling unassisted double play by rough Critz to end the game before the Pirates had tied the score. Other National league clubs do not start the second half of the east-west test until today, but on the basis of form shown in the games since June 1, the eastern clubs have all the advantage. They won 34 contests while the west took but 18, with only the hard fighting Chicago Cubs getting better than a .500 average.

In the American league, the struggle was somewhat closer as the east's leading pennant contenders held their own although they were pulled down from the heights they had reached before they invaded the western half of the circuit. The east came out ahead, 26 games to 25.

Cleveland, after pushing up to within striking distance of the league lead, found when they came east again yesterday that the Philadelphia Athletics have a real championship team despite eight defeats in 14 games. Cleveland had a chance to oust the world's champions from first place, but even their pitching ace, Wes Ferrell, could not stop the Athletics in a crucial moment. The A's made a dozen hits, most of them in two big innings, and equalled an American league record for home run hitting in winning a 7 to 2 decision.

Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx and Bing Miller connected with Ferrell's delivery in the fifth inning for three successive home runs, a feat that has been performed only twice before in American league history.

RED GRANITE LEADS MID-WISCONSIN LOOP

Berlin—Red Granite retained undisputed lead in the Mid-Wisconsin league by winning out Bertha Boosters, 3 to 2. Next Sunday Wild Rose plays at Red Granite, Dale at Tustin and Waupaca at Berlin. Tustin beat Wild Rose, 11 to 1, and Waupaca won from Dale, 4 to 1.

Standings:

UZZUDUN, RISKO FIGHT TONIGHT

Winner May Be Given A Chance At Crown Held By Max Schmeling

Detroit — (P)—Paolino Uzcudun and Johnny Risko today awaited the going which will send them to the center of the ring tonight in a ten round match which is expected to have an important bearing on the selection of an opponent for Max Schmeling next fall or winter.

Both men were reported in the top of condition. The official weighing in this afternoon is expected to reveal a difference of only two or three pounds, both weighing slightly over 190. Uzcudun tops the Clevelanders by half an inch in height and out-reaches him by the same margin.

They are the most evenly matched fighters in the heavyweight division, so far as measurements are concerned. It will be their second meeting. In the first match, Risko was awarded a decision which still is protested by the Basque woodchopper and his adherents.

New York—(P)—New Broom, the costliest yearling of all time, the colt for which C. V. Cushman paid $75,000, still is a maiden. Incidentally Broadway Limited for which W. T. Waggoner of Texas paid $65,000 the same year at Saratoga also still has to win his first race.

Harry Payne Whitney's Whisk Broom II carrying 139 pounds in 1913 ran a mile and a quarter at Belmont Park in 2:00 flat.

BREWERS RALLY TO BEAT INDIANS ON BERGY'S BIRTHDAY

Celebrate Manager's 40th Anniversary With 6 And 3 Victory

CHICAGO (P)—Benny Paschal, who seldom got a chance to bat when he was with the New York Yankees, has hung up a new "perfect day at bat" mark for American association hitters to shoot at.

Yesterday, while leading St. Paul to a double win over Columbus, Benny hit safely in eight chances, collecting one home run, a triple, a double and five singles, scoring six runs himself and driving in five. It was the best day's performance in American association records.

Another ex-Yankee played a heavy part in St. Paul's double win over Columbus. Wilcy Moore, held the Senators to seven scattered hits in the first game and blanked them, 13 to 0. It was his thirteenth victory of the season. The Saints took the second game 8 to 4 and replaced Columbus in second place in the American association flag chase.

The league leading Louisville Colonels romped over Kansas City, 13 to 5, and held a seven and one half game lead over St. Paul.

Milwaukee has adopted the seventh inning rally habit. For the second consecutive day, the Brewers waited until the standup inning yesterday for their fireworks and scored runs to defeat Indianapolis, 6 to 3. Danny Blossom capped the big inning, clearing the loaded bases with a triple and scoring later on Turgeon's sacrifice. Incidentally, the victory fittingly celebrated Manager Marty Berghammer's fourth birthday.

New Names Are Leading Major League Batters

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1930

NEW YORK—Many of the batters in the two major leagues whose names appeared on the gilded lists of the ten leading hitters in their divisions last year, today are conspicuous by their absence from this roll. Few names have replaced them. Still others have improved their positions on the roster of the chosen few, or else dropped back, unable thus far to keep up the pace.

One year ago the ten batters leading in the American league were Fothergill, Fox, Lazzeri, Cochran, Manush, Simmons, Morgan, Rice of Washington, Gehring and Fonseca. This list does not include occasional pitchers and occasional catchers who very often have good batting percentages.

Today the ten leading hitters are Rice of Washington, Simmons, Ruth, Hodapp, Cochran, Gehrig, Dickey, Jolley, Combs, McManus and Fox.

Manush, Fothergill, Lazzeri, Gehring and Fonseca have fallen back. That has hurt St. Louis, which had depended upon Manush for a lot of batting. They finally traded him to Washington because he didn't produce it. There was friction between the player and the club.

The falling back of Fothergill has not made any appreciable difference to Detroit which has been backward for other reasons, one of which has been Gehring's failure to deliver.

Cleveland has missed Fonseca, but Hodapp has been stepping out at a lively pace to take his place and the club's batting has been generally bettery over Minneapolis. Le Bourveau got four hits in five times at bat.

ter than it was a year ago. Fox is not batting as well as he did, mostly because the pitchers are not afraid to work him. McManus has been helping Detroit and Jolley has proved that he can bat the ball, which is exactly why the Chicago Americans took him.

The National league's ten best batters a year ago were Herman, O'Doul, Frisch, Stephenson, Hafe, Klein, Terry, Comorosky, Bancroft and Hendrick.

This year the leading ten are Klein, Herman, Terry, Hellmann, Hogan, Stephenson, Paul Waner, O'Farrell, Bissonette and Grantham.

That is a rather unusual assortment. Two of them are catchers for New York, who have divided about all the catching between them. A third is Terry, the first baseman of the Giants. It is the good work of this trio that is having so much effect in feeding steam to the giant dreadnought.

Philadelphia has lost O'Doul out of the leaders, but has Klein, who is batting better than he did a season ago. Cincinnati is helped by Hellmann, and he is about all of the batting material they have.

Stephenson is stepping along for Chicago as he always does and Paul Waner has taken the place of Comorosky who is not batting as hard for Pittsburgh as he did last summer. Bissonette and Herman are a fine team for Brooklyn. In 1929 Bissonette wasn't worth much. Grantham is first aid to Paul Waner. If the Pittsburgh team had Lloyd Waner back, and he probably will play for them when the team gets home, they would have a fairly good batting front to present to anybody.

St. Louis has been knocked down in batting as Frisch is not hitting hard and Hafe is out until he recovers from his serious eye affliction.

Washington—Commander James A. Ring, U. S. N. retired, whose service began in the days of wooden sailing ships, has experienced a thrill in the newest arms of the service. He had an airplane ride with his son, Lieut. L. C. Ring as pilot. The commander is 83 years old.

Talks To Parents

TOO BUSY TO WASH
By Alice Judson Peale

Six year old Billy was busy at his work bench. He had conceived the brilliant idea of making furniture for his room out of some wooden boxes.

When mother looked in to ask him whether he was ready to join his little sister at the living room fire to listen to a story, he did not even look up from his work while he answered.

"I've got it all sawed now. See, it's going to be a sofa. This is going to be the back and the arms and this is the seat. All I've got to do now is nail it together."

Half an hour later, when his mother looked in he was still hammering vigorously.

"It's time to wash your hands for supper now. You'd better put your things away."

"Oh, mother, I'm too busy to wash. My hands aren't very dirty anyhow and I'm almost through. Please let me finish."

When the supper bell rang, Billy came in flushed and grim, holding the sofa in his arms.

"It's all done, mother. Look, I can sit in it. I can lean back in it and it doesn't wiggle. Can I sit on it while I eat my supper?"

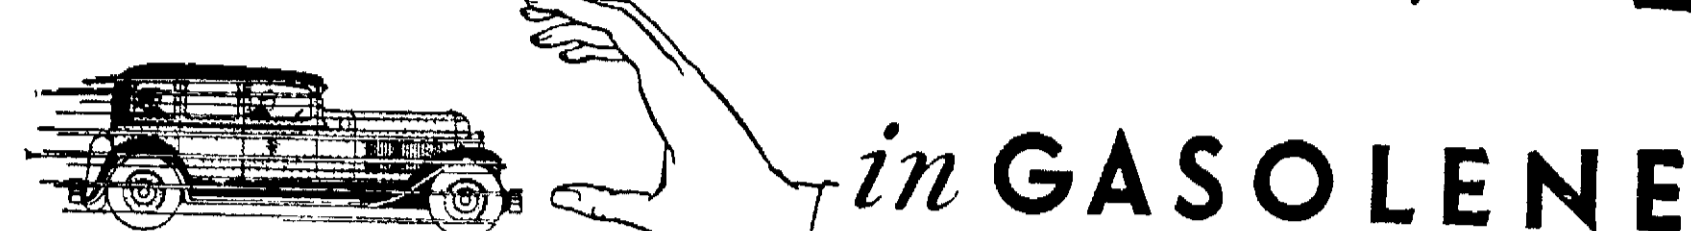

And Billy sat upon his sofa while he ate his supper with hands not so clean, but with a beaming countenance and a good appetite.

There are things more important even than clean hands at a supper table. To have made Billy put aside the work in which he was so passionately interested would have pointed to a sad confusion of values on the part of any mother.

Left undisturbed he knew the glow of satisfaction that comes from a creative activity brought to a successful conclusion.

IT'S THE GUM

in GASOLENE
that STEALS your POWER
Use KOOLMOTOR

Harmful gum has been removed by the special mini-gum process*

ONE REASON why Koolmotor Gasolene delivers full power from the moment you start your car is because it has been freed from harmful gum.

Excessive gum in gasolene causes a sticky deposit to form on the valve heads. When you step on the gas to get more power your valves have to struggle to get free...like a fly stuck on a piece of flypaper. This causes loss of compression and "missing" cylinders.

The gum content in Koolmotor Gasolene has been reduced to a harmless minimum through the special Cities Service mini-gum process. This makes Koolmotor Gasolene clean and free-burning and protects your engine against sticky, gummy valves.

You'll actually feel new freedom of operation and new power when you fill your tank with this cleansed fuel.

Why not do it today...there is a Cities Service station or dealer nearby.

HARMFUL EFFECTS of Excessive Gum
in Gasolene

1. Clogging of intake manifold.
2. Delayed seating and complete sticking of intake valves.
3. Loss of compression.
4. Loss of power.
5. "Missing" cylinders and engine failure.
6. Unnecessary repair bills.
7. Excessive gasolene consumption.

The Mini-gum process—the name applied to the extreme care and precision taken by Cities Service experts to remove harmful gum from Koolmotor Gasolene. When this powerful, clean burning motor fuel reaches your car its gum content has been reduced to a harmless minimum. You are protected against the menace and expense of sticky valves.

THERE'S MORE TO THIS TIRE
THAN
Mileage,
MISTER!

Low price, for one thing . . . and that significant name "Goodrich" on the sidewall!

MILEAGE? Sure there's mileage in the Cavalier! Plenty of it . . . and every bit the kind that lets you forget you've got tires on your car!

But mileage is only part of the story of Cavaliers. There are low prices to think about, too. Real savings, in cold hard cash.

And right there on the sidewall that significant name Goodrich! Assurance of quality . . . value . . . ability to take punishment!

For Goodrich puts its name on only one kind of tire . . . the kind that stands up in spite of punishment, high speeds, bad roads. The kind that takes its own good time about wearing out . . . and keeps you from worrying about it.

That's the kind of a tire the Cavalier is. Big. Husky. Oversize in air cushion and tread thickness. Stout in the sidewalls. Water-cured for through-and-through toughness. And mighty good looking on your car.

You can forget about mileage. That goes for granted with any Goodrich Tire. Just remember the low prices and the fact that they're backed by Goodrich. Come in . . . see them. We have them in all sizes . . . including a couple for trucks.

TWO INJURED AS "FORD SPECIAL" LEAVES TRACKS

Green Bay And Western Train Wrecked Five Miles From New London

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—Charles Voss, New London, construction superintendent of the Green Bay and Western railroad and Frank Welby, Green Bay, conductor of the Ford train, a fast freight special due to arrive here shortly after 2 o'clock were painfully injured in a wreck Wednesday afternoon about five miles east of the city. Both men were in the engine which was one of three cars that left the tracks and toppled down the high embankment. Voss suffered a dislocation of the right hip and severe body bruises, while Welby received a severely bruised left leg and right shoulder, three fractured ribs and a cut above the eye. Both men were badly bruised, rolling over and over as the car was dragged along among splintered ties, finally leaving the road bed for the ditch. No reason was given for the wreck although it is believed that spreading rails might have caused it. The remainder of the train was loaded with cars bound from Kaukauna to Wisconsin. The first to leave the track was a loaded Wadham's oil tank which fell upon its side into the ditch. Several tons of coal were spilled out of a coal car and the caboose was dragged for about a quarter mile, its trucks being ripped off.

THREE CLOSE GAMES IN PLAYGROUND LOOP

Ninth Inning Spurt Gives Plywoods A Win Over Hamiltons

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—All games played in the indoor league on Wednesday night were thrillers. The Plywoods-Hamiltons game drew the biggest crowd, about 200 fans witnessing the game. Hamiltons got four runs in the first inning, which margin was soon cut down by the Plywoods. The lead seen sawed back and forth and in the ninth inning the score was 10 all. Hamilton fans thought the game was theirs when Bill Dayton's two bagger made the score 11-10. Christianson's team had the last bat, however and Fat Heinz's line drive through the infield again tied the score. The next man up bunted and implement also laid down a bunt bringing in the winning run. In the other game the Legion team lost a 3-2 decision to Edisons. The Legions were ahead until the last of the ninth when Edisons shot across two runs to sew up the game. In the last game of the evening Borden won 6-3 from the Christs. When Donner, Nutter and Barlow pounded line drives for three runs in the fifth inning. Polzin pitched a good game for the losers, but his field support was erratic. This leaves the Plywoods still on top of the heap with the other teams within one or two games of one another. Friday evening Borden and Hamiltons clash in a protested game, which if Hamiltons win will put them and Borden in a tie for second place.

OLDEST HOSPITAL IN WORLD SEEKING
$5,000,000 FUND

"Bart's," in Lond, Makes Second Call For Help In All
Its History

H YMLTON BRONNER

London — "Bart's is asking for help."

To most people in the United States and Canada this means nothing at all. But scattered here and there in both nations there are skilled physicians and surgeons and trained nurses to whom it means a lot. They know that "Bart's" means the Royal Hospital of St. Bartholomew in London and they look back to in affectionately as the place where they got their training.

For Bart's is both a very great hospital and a very great medical college. But it has more claim to fame than that. It is the oldest hospital in the world that is still a going concern. No other place of its kind can compare with its over 800 years of continuous existence.

DATES BACK TO HENRY I

In 1066 at Hastings there was fought a battle in which the Saxon English under Harold were overwhelmingly beaten by the Norman, William the Conqueror, who made himself king of England.

His son, Henry the First, succeeded him. By his wise rule, he consolidated the victory his father had won. He built roads. He erected fortresses at strategic points. He made England a model of order and justice. He and his Norman nobles brought from France their gay and elegant manners, their rich attire, their taste in art and learning.

At Henry's court there was a young man named Rahere. Of all the court jesters, he was the most clever. He sang old ballads in the most charming way. King Henry delighted in him.

Then one day the king's son and heir to the throne was drowned in a shipwreck off the English coast. Rahere seemed to have taken the catastrophe to heart more than anybody else. He deserted the court, became a lay brother in the priory of the Augustines and started on a pilgrimage to Rome.

There he fell, victim to the plague. The sick man made a vow that if he recovered, he would return to London and build a hospital for the relief of the poor. He did recover. As soon as he got back to London, he got from the king a grant of land in what was then known as the Smithfield marshes.

This was in 1123. Aided by the common people, Rahere built his hospital and his church, the church of St. Bartholomew the Great. Parts of the original church still stand.

In 1133 the king granted Bart's its formal foundation charter, which has sometimes been called the Magna Charta of Health. From that time to this the doors of Bart's have practically never been closed, night or day.

Its history has in a way been intimately connected with the history of London and England. It is probable that some of the first patients were old Saxon and Norman soldiers suffering from lance and arrow wounds gotten many years before in the Battle of Hastings. The Black Death and the sweating sickness of the Middle Ages filled its wards with suffering humanity.

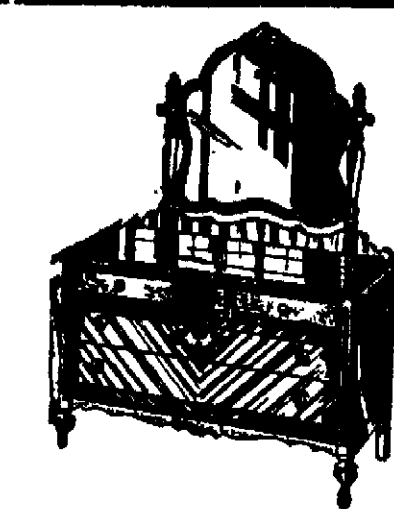

In the civil wars, when Cromwell was fighting King Charles the First, Cavaliers and Roundheads lay side by side in its cots. Victims of the Napoleonic wars came here for relief. London victims of Zepplin raids and British soldiers from Flanders' fields came here during the World war.

Famous names, too, are associated with Bart's. Dick Whittington, that London Lord Mayor, celebrated in song and story, was one of its benefactors. John Mirtle, physician to the hospital, wrote in 1400 the first printed book on medicine. William Harvey, who discovered the circulation of blood in the human body, was a doctor here for over 30 years. William Hogarth, one of the greatest English painters, served as governor of Bart's and gave it two of his greatest paintings.

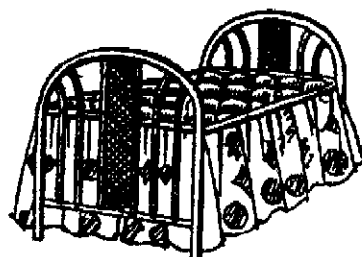

Its wards are always open to the poor. The most famous physicians in London, including the doctors and surgeons attendant upon King George and the Prince of Wales.

MAYOR APPROVES ZONING OF CITY, BUT NOT AT ONCE

Project Would Require Considerable Study, B. W. Fargo Admits

Kaukauna — Mayor B. W. Fargo favors the zoning of cities and believes that it would be a good thing for Kaukauna to adopt. He stated Wednesday that all cities should be zoned to protect the rights of the residents and that eventually all cities will have zoning laws.

He said that Kaukauna will adopt zoning laws, but it would not be in the near future. The matter of zoning the city has been discussed several times by the council, but no definite action was ever taken. Some cities in this vicinity have adopted zoning laws. At the present time zoning laws are being completed the adoption of such a code. A public hearing is to be held on the matter soon if the present plans are favored by the Neenah council.

If Kaukauna is zoned, building lines would be established in various parts of the city, building heights regulated and use of lot areas outlined. Provisions would be made for park zones and districts for election of small business places and community stores. A zoning code for Kaukauna would take much study and would be a long time in the making.

The mayor pointed out that many difficulties would be encountered in adopting such a code. It would be a benefit to the city as it would govern the erection of small stores and stands for business in the residential parts of the city.

WATCH LAWS AGAINST FIREWORKS, SAYS CHIEF

Kaukauna — Merchants are warned to carefully observe the law in selling fireworks this year by Chief of Police R. H. McCarty. He pointed out that no fireworks are to be sold until after July 1. He has issued orders to the police force to see that the law is strictly enforced. No shooting of firecrackers will be allowed in the city limits until July 4, and anyone doing so before that time will be arrested.

The chief said that the changes in the state laws this year regarding fireworks should be noted. Firecrackers may be no longer than two inches. Cap pistols cannot be sold, no private displays can be had unless orders are issued by the chief. A merchant selling illegal fireworks is liable for all injury and damage.

Chief McCarty also warned boys against the use of slingshots in the city. He stated that several complaints have been made of broken windows.

LESS BUTTER IS IN COLD STORAGE

Situation Improved Since June 1, Says Agricultural Bureau

Improvement in the cold storage butter situation is reflected in the reduction of stocks on June 1 to a little less than twice the quantity in storage on the same date a year ago, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, reports.

Whereas butter stocks have been from two to three times as great in recent months as on corresponding dates a year ago, the bureau says the storage supply on June 1 is reported at 50,350,000 pounds as compared with 28,389,000 pounds on June 1, last year.

Other dairy and poultry products were in larger storage supply on June 1 as compared with a year ago, but the bureau reports decreased holdings of meats and lard. Of apples there was the equivalent of 463,000 barrels in storage June 1, as compared with 392,000 barrels last June.

Stocks of American cheese are reported at 49,045,000 pounds as compared with 47,641,000 pounds last June; eggs, 9,174,000 cases as compared with 8,705,000 cases a year ago; frozen poultry, 61,202,000 pounds as compared with 41,643,000 pounds.

Total stocks of meats are reported at $34,444,000 pounds as compared with 1,012,092,000 pounds last June, and of lard, 115,327,000 pounds as compared with 183,490,000 pounds. The decrease in meats is largely accounted for by smaller holdings of frozen pork, of which the storage stocks on June 1 were 177,147,000 pounds, as compared with 256,291,000 pounds a year ago.

SEEK INFORMATION ON APPLETON PARKS

A request for information regarding Appleton parks was received by Mayor John Goodland Monday from Parks and Recreation, a bi-monthly magazine published in Minneapolis. The questionnaire also asked for facts about Appleton's golf courses and airport.

Approximately 800,000 residences are constructed in the United States annually.

MRS. J. JAMES

501 So. Main St., Burlington, Iowa

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me during Change of Life. I had to lie down most of the time because I felt so weak and I could not stand the least bit of noise. I was that nervous. I felt blue and could cry if anyone looked at me. I could not sleep or eat but I am much better now and am able to work every day. I certainly do recommend the Vegetable Compound and I will write to any woman about it." —Mrs. J. James.

MRS. H. C. HENRY

286 Fuller Ave., St. Paul, Minnesota

"I used to be as tired when I got up as when I went to bed. I had fainting spells and palpitation. It was my age. I found a Lydia E. Pinkham booklet in my mail box and I started taking the Vegetable Compound three times a day. I am now a well woman. Three of my neighbors know what it did for me so they are taking it too. I will write to any woman if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help her as it did me." —Mrs. H. C. Henry.

Murder at High Tide

By CHARLES G. BOOTH

Chapter 34
MADNESS

CAROLINE'S scream was a lamp that lighted me down through whirling darkness until it went out in the gale whistling past my ears. Just how long I lay on the floor I never knew. Half an hour, perhaps. A swarm of bees droning in my ears presently told me I was still alive.

My head was a ring of agony, my stomach was crawling into my throat. The supremely vital thing was that my torch had revealed to me the livid face of le Balafre, and that Caroline had been with him. It was not the crooked scar on the man's right cheek bone, nor yet the features of his face which had startled me into thinking of him as being of neither the living nor the dead, but the look of a man who has lived too long in the shadow of his own hatred. It was ghastly.

Caroline had been with him, and my own incompetency had left her with him! A launch had come in. Bec would have been in it. They'd be gone now. What was I to do? What could I do?

"Where are they taking her?" I cried. "Why are they taking her?" And then: "This won't do. Keep your head."

Climbing unsteadily to my feet, I switched on the light. The bodies of Grainger and Parados lay side by side. An undertaker had prepared them for burial.

The closet door was open. It had been shut and locked, the key gone, when Miss Jahnke and I had come into the room half an hour before. I had hammered on the door and felt like an idiot for doing so. The garments in the closet were thrown about in confusion.

A key was in the lock inside the door. Evidently le Balafre had locked Caroline and himself in the closet and threatened to kill her if she made their presence known.

I reeled onto the roof, where the cool air revived me. A short distance off shore a light was visible. It was traveling north at a fast clip. A small craft, I decided. Was it the one I had seen putting into the cove? Perhaps--one chance in ten, say! That was all I needed. There were two fast cruisers at the jetty.

Nothing beats a forlorn hope for putting starch into a man. I flew down the outside stair and along the cliff to the cove trail. Three minutes brought me on to the jetty. Dropping into the cockpit of the Parados cruiser, I felt my way to the engine and fumbled for the starter... found it. The mechanism whirled, but the engine did not fire. I felt for matches. Mine were wet, and I stumbled into the cabin. Matches lay on the table. Shivering, I made my way back to the engine and bent over it, striking with my fingers. The sparks were wet and were wrenched out and the gasoline feed line broken.

I threw myself aboard the police launch. Its engine had been disabled in precisely the same way.

Sick with despair, I fell back against the rail. I wanted to fling myself overboard. Why hadn't I done this? That--the other thing.

After a minute or so I was able to think with some coherence. Caroline had run into le Balafre as she set out to meet Flique and me. I supposed, and he had had either to kill her or keep her quiet until he could get away.

But why had he taken her aboard their launch when Bec put into the cove? A definite motive, something to do with their revenge scheme, perhaps, was behind the abduction.

Le Balafre's reason for being near the house at all looked equally inexplicable. Parados was Lacote and Lacote was dead, killed, presumably, by the convicts themselves.

Why then should le Balafre come back, since their revenge was consummated? An idea occurred to me. Was it possible that le Balafre and Bec had not killed Parados and that they had not known until this evening that he was dead? The inevitable question followed. If they had not killed Parados, who had? And then I was back where I had begun.

A fantastic notion suddenly brought me up standing. That afternoon on the ridge above the village Caroline had been sure she had seen someone move on one of the shelves below us. I had laughed at her. Had she been right?

And if she had been, was it one of the French convicts whom she had seen? Perhaps! No one ever went there. The village would have made an ideal temporary headquarters. But above all, were they taking Caroline there now?

It was a desperate hope, but enough to send me flying along the jetty toward the foot of the cliff trail. I could think of half a dozen reasons why le Balafre and Bec should not go to the village and of none why they should. If my launch was sound, I'd have plenty of time afterward to think of Messieurs le Balafre and Bec's reasons for returning to the village.

My feet were in bad condition by the time I reached the top of the trail. Fortunately I had another pair of shoes in my suitcase. As I lugged up the outside stair I tore off my wet coat and shirt, replacing them with the light overcoat I had brought with me. I didn't dare take the time to change other garments. My flashlight was broken. I had supposed that the house was empty, but as I ran down the stair to the hall I heard a small noise that might have been a sob or a groan. It seemed to come from the vicinity of Miss Jahnke's room.

The door was shut. I knocked. There was no reply, and I pushed into the room, turning the light switch. Manning lay across the bed, her head buried in a pillow.

"Get up," I said. "This is Mr. Hunt. Where are the others?" She screamed at the sight of my face, which was not surprising, as I must have been a gory looking old fellow. A valuable minute was lost in reassuring her.

"Where are the others?" I repeated sharply.

"I don't know, sir. I don't know anything." She began to weep hysterically. "They haven't come back. I heard Miss Brent's voice upstairs--and another voice--a man's."

"What did he say?" I shouted.

"I don't know. I don't know anything. I heard a funny voice--like--like Mr. Flique's. And he said--he said something about a village--oh, Mr. Hunt, you are hurting my arm--oh!"

"Was that all you heard?"

"Yes, sir. Oh my arm!"

"Pull yourself together and listen to what I say." I shook her violently. "You aren't in any danger. Try to find Flique or Samuels--any of them. Tell them I've come to the old fishing village--that Miss Brent is there. You understand?"

She nodded stupidly and I left her. The house behind me, I headed for the slope at a sharp trot. The trail belted the waist of the island, rising crookedly to a saddle in the slope and dropping steeply to a point half a mile or so south of the deserted village.

I had perhaps four miles to go, the launch eight or ten, according to the contour of the coast. The launch would arrive first, I knew--perhaps it was there already--but I did not force my pace. My sharp trot would get me there sooner in the long run.

I did not speculate. My job was to get Caroline out of the hands of those two maniacs. If I failed again I should not have the courage to go on living. I saw no sign of any of the others. This was not surprising, as the island occupied 18 or 20 square miles.

Half an hour of this steady gait found me sliding down the east side of the slope. Reaching the bottom, I turned north and ran at top speed.

At first the buildings of the village and the wharves and the beached firmament were blurs against the black night. As I entered the village I knew it for what it was and for nothing else: the symbol of one man's hatred.

Hatred? The recurrent motif blew on my emotions. Without doubt I was mad.

At the head of the second wharf, the one on which Caroline had declared she had seen some one move, I stopped. There was no sign of a launch, or of any living being but myself, and no sound but the quiet lapping of the ebbing tide. The oppressive emptiness of the place turned me sick.

Why had I come?

FARM CHIEFS GROW UNEASY OVER BILL TO PATENT PLANTS

Think Benefits Of Research Work Will Be Dissipated In Seed Costs

Washington — (P)—After supporting it, agricultural leaders are beginning to wonder whether the Purnell-Townsend bill to patent plants will not cause the benefits of stimulated research to be dissipated in additional seed costs to the farmer.

Sent to the president by unanimous vote of both houses of congress, the bill seeks only to patent the individual plant. However, a question rises whether any organization acquiring patent rights to a newly originated plant might be in position to sell its seeds or other reproductive units at a price prohibitive to the great majority of farmers.

Farm crops today are the result of constant improvement and development, which for lack of plant patents have come into the hands of the farmer at slight increase in seed costs.

It is the theory of the bill that the surface has only been scratched in plant experimentation, that remunerative protection for plant breeders is necessary to the stimulation of much important work yet to be done.

By its terms the creator of a new plant would be given 17 years exclusive right to it, the same as the originator of any industrial mechanism is given protection for his invention.

The bill has the endorsement of the commissioner of patents, the secretary of agriculture, all the national farm organizations, the secretary for the American society for the advancement of science and many others.

Thomas A. Edison said of the bill: "Nothing congress could do to help farming would be of greater value and permanence than to give to the plant breeder the same status as the mechanical and chemical inventors now have through the patent law. There are but few plant breeders. This will, I feel sure, give us many Burbanks."

An excerpt from a manuscript of the late Luther Burbank says: "I would hesitate to advise a young man, no matter how gifted or devoted, to adopt plant breeding as a life work until America takes some action to protect his unquestioned rights to some benefit from his achievements."

ENJOY WINTER SPORTS AND SWIM ON SAME DAY

Garmisch, Germany — (P)—While early bathers here disport themselves in Riesser Lake, the snow on the mountains surrounding the twin cities of Garmisch and Partenkirchen is still so abundant that skiing continues as popular as in winter. By using the suspension cable cars up the mountains Zugspitze, one may enjoy winter sports and a swim on the same day.

Charles O. Baer Camp Organized 30 Years Ago

The Charles O. Baer camp of the United Spanish American War Veterans, which is sponsoring the thirty-first Wisconsin convention here June 26, 27 and 28, was the third camp in the state to be organized. The camp was mustered in on April 17, 1900, with a charter membership of 24. The present membership is 65, which is practically 100 per cent of the eligibles in the county.

The first camp commander was Col. Hugh E. Pomeroy and are present commander is Louis Jeske.

This camp was among the first in the country to be uniformed, having appeared in khaki uniforms, campaign hats and leggings on Sunday, May 24, 1901. The camp meetings are held semi-monthly and are always well attended.

Present officers of the local camp are: Mr. Jeske, commander; Henry Steger, senior vice commander; Ferdinand Radtke, junior vice commander; Richard G. Sykes, quartermaster; Albert Schultz, Joseph Haseman and Emil C. Hoffman, trustees; M. S. Pecenboom, patriotic instructor; W. H. Zuehlke, historian; August Petran, surgeon; C. B. Present members of the Charles O. Baer camp include, besides the officers: Harry J. Behnke, Everett Betho, William Buske, Charles Daniels, Nic Drexler, Joseph Forster, J. P. Frank, John C. Frieders, Charles Ganzen, Paul Ganzen, Pat Gerarden, Fred W. Giese, Irving

Itching Stops Instantly—Piles Soothed, Healed

The itching, burning and bleeding of piles is most embarrassing—allowed to continue they cause worry, nervousness and in some cases—the knife.

So just get after those sore, painful piles today with Peterson's Ointment. The minute this powerfully healing and soothing ointment is applied, itching and burning stops, the inflamed parts are soothed and start right in to heal—the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment causes piles to vanish in a few days.

Cleveland Bruner of Maxton, N. Car., writes: "I had a severe case of piles and will truthfully say after trying everything without getting any help—Peterson's Ointment gave me freedom and banished my piles." Peterson's Ointment ends piles and a 35c box will prove it—all druggists.

MALE BATHERS MUST WATCH STEP ALONG PACIFIC BEACHES

Ladies, However, Still Permitted To Undo Shoulder Straps

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Santa Monica, Calif. — (CPA)—Since the movies returned, Har. Har, Los Angeles has grown so refined that it looks as though the beaches would never be the same. One of the signs of California until just now was the beaches hereabouts, which became in fact such a sight that steps have been taken. The electrified visitor may see these steps being taken any day by gentlemen bathers two jumps ahead of cops.

The situation is due to the climate of southern California, the darling of women, and the natural self-respect of men. Some seasons ago the women bathers began to scant their suits in order to obtain as much benefit as possible from the violent sun rays. Quite logically the men figured that if ladies could be barefaced, as it were, so could men. Any number of men began craning into mirrors and cultivating a self-respect for their handsome shoulders, backs and chests which was eventually reflected in their shoulderless, backless, and chestless bathing suits. In short, the men in shorts, they entered the water part of the suit entirely.

SLATED ON FINES
This current season, just as the men were getting practically the full benefit of the sun's rays and luxuriating in the sun, Monica beach nearly invaded some old meanie called the attention of the police to an ordinance against indecency. Whoosh! The police swooped down upon the carefree children of nature (men) with an arrest in one hand and a $25 fine in the other.

Self-respecting males with handsome chests have accordingly taken to the tall timber, of which there is a pathetic scarcity in the vicinity, or to the gent's furnishing departments in quest of law abiding tunics to accompany the shorts. Those rebathers who arrive at the beach in ignorance of the new morality are hastily apprised of it by friendly or envious fellow bathers, with the result that more than one child of nature has bathed in shorts plus silted undershirt. The latter, particularly when wet, offers no serious barrier to the violet sun rays at least so far as the eye of the law is concerned it's as opaque as a blanket.

A suit in favor with female bathers has a slender cord attached to the front section which, when the straps have been unfastened, holds up the front sufficiently to cover the ordinance, while the portion of back prevented by the cord from receiving its full quota of violet rays is really negligible.

To the student of human nature, a pretty tableau is presented by a lady thus attired watching a shirtless man bather hot-footing it down the

COUNTY RURAL SCHOOL SUPERVISORS END WORK

Miss Nellie McDermott and Arthur L. Collier, county rural school supervising teachers, completed their year's work last week and started their summer vacations of two months. The supervising teachers are engaged on a ten-month basis. They will return to work again on Aug. 15, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

SCHNEIDER WANTS STATE TO WAIVE SWAMP LAND CLAIM

Will Ask Legislature Not To Seek Title To Tracts In Reservation

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton has announced that he will urge the Wisconsin Legislature to pass an act waiving any claim the state may have to swamp lands in the Menominee Indian Reservation.

Wisconsin has appropriated $30,000 to investigate and survey the swamp lands which the state may claim under laws of 1850 and under a 1918 Supreme Court decision. The Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives refused to grant the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs for an appropriation of $26,500 for similar surveys of the swamp lands in Indian reservations, which may amount to around 100,000 acres.

The state has already laid claim to 43,000 acres of swamp land in the Menominee, Bad River, and Lac du Flambeau reservations. Rep. Schneider believes that the act setting up the Menominee reservation supercedes the act of 1850 granting the swamp lands to the state.

In refusing to grant the $26,500 appropriation, the committee said: "The committee has eliminated an item of $26,500 for salaries and expenses in connection with the examination of lands on Indian reservations in Wisconsin. This sum was requested on the statement that the State of Wisconsin was proposing to contest the title of the Indians to certain lands believed to belong to the state because of a possible classification of such lands as swamp lands instead of timber land."

"The committee is of the opinion that there is no urgent necessity for the making of this appropriation at the present time and if need for its use persists the item can be considered at the next session of Congress in connection with the regular annual Interior Department appropriation bill."

Rep. Louis Cramton of Michigan vigorously opposed the appropriation in committee and launched an attack on Wisconsin's treatment of the Indians on the basis of the state's proposal to take over swamp lands in the Indian reservations.

This Woman In 4 Weeks Lost 19 Pounds of Fat

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

"Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts."

I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give "Kruschen Salts" a fair trial.

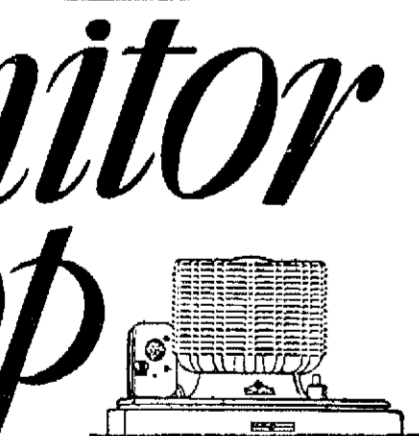

The day I started to take them I weighed 236 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends, in fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen's Salts.

May all large, people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince any one."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at Schilz Bros. Co., 3 stores or any drugstore in America. adv.

ADVISE TRUCK OWNERS TO GET NEW LICENSES

Truck owners were advised this week by Police Chief George T. Prim to make application for their new 1930-31 licenses at the police station. When application is made there, the chief pointed out, the truck owner will be given a sticker to place on the windshield of the machine. This will keep the driver from being troubled by officers if the new plates do not arrive.

All trucks must be equipped with the new licenses, or the owner must have made applications for them, on or before July 1. The new licenses will run until July 1, 1931, the new truck license plates are yellow with red letters. Licenses for the first six months of 1930, which were purchased after Jan. 1, are only good until July 1, the chief pointed out.

SEEKS ADMISSION TO BAR IN WASHINGTON

Douglas Hartman Of Watertown, Rep. Schneider's
Secretary Graduates

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Douglas Hartman of Watertown, secretary to Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton, after graduating from National University law school (June 13), will take the bar examinations here this week.

He will seek admission to the bar of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, but will continue his work for Rep. Schneider. As legal knowledge is of benefit to congressional secretaries in handling matters for the congressman's constituents before the government departments here, Hartman is already using his legal education, gained at night school while working for Representative Schneider.

For five years Hartman worked in the Department of State. At first he was with the "Welfare and Whereabouts" division, which administers the $10,000 fund provided by John D. Rockefeller for aid to Americans stranded in foreign countries or in difficulties there. During the last two years he was assistant trade letter analyst.
